

Whittings.

— The Bank of England supports a rifle corps of its own, to guard the national money chest.

— It is said that Indian babies never cry. This is because they are never taken to public entertainments. We believe an indiarubber baby would yell frightfully if it were taken to a place of amusement.

- A man has been on the Baltimore police 22 years, and never caught anything but a cold.
- The new Atlantic cable company will reduce rates for telegrams to 12 1-2 cts. a word.
- Some pedestrians try to make six days on a stretch, and they make the sixth day on a stretcher.
- Ireland is experiencing an improvement in business.

- A Niagara landlord said to a tourist that that was the healthiest place in the world, and that nobody ever died there, when the tourist remarked that considering his charges, nobody would stay there long enough to die.
- All the hides to be shipped from Montevideo for New York between the present time and February have, it is stated, been bought up in advance.
- Florida hotel keepers are hunting

— A young man stood at the doorway of his charmer's residence, and the way of his ring was after some delay answered by his sister, when he asked the innocent prattler if Mabel didn't know he was there. "I guess she does," said the little one, "she told me to come here and see how shady your feet made them this forenoon."

— Taylor county, Texas, which was organized only 14 months ago, has already a population of 3000, while 56 public schools have been established there.

— "Is Mr. Smith at home?" "No, ma'am, he's gone to the barbers to get shaved and bamboozled," said the domestic.

— The travelling pebbles which are well known as curiosities in Europe have been found in Nevada. These

"I would rather vote for the evildoer than for you," said a voter to a caucus candidate. "Well, in case your friend should not be nominated, might I count on your assistance?" was a reply in which added fuel to the voter's fury.

—New England has 3567 settlements—more than any other country in the world—nearly half of the population.

amount of the whole number in this country.

— A pedlar was assaulted by a Cossack because he called him a liar. At the trial Pat said, "He tried to sell me something" I told him it was brass, when he saw 'it's alloy,' and I knocked him down."

— The Dahlonega gold district in Georgia yields at the rate of $300,000 a year.

— A lazy man has a wife named Laziness.

— The total value of Leadville silver production to the first of August is nine million and a half, lacking a fraction.

— Women who continually indulge in fancy work don't fancy work of their kind.

— An English trade paper says that country buys from other countries each year from 75,000,000 to 80,000,000

— A pretty girl has a right to her arms.

— The ice crop of last winter has been estimated at 8,000,000 tons, and will be largely exceeded this winter weather permits.

— A remedy for scratching at the poll—A fine tooth comb.

— That hirsute abomination, barbed hair, is rapidly going out of fashion.

— Gollath was much surprised w David slung the stone, as such a t had never entered his head before

In Johnstown, Pa., and vicinity is stated, over a hundred children died of diphtheria within the past weeks.

— A paper mill—a fight betwee val journals.

HAUNTED ME,

Debt, poverty and suffering haun me for years, caused by a sick fa and large bills for doctoring. w

did no good. I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by advice of my pastor. I procured Bitters and commenced their use. In one month we were all well, none of us have been sick a day since and I want to say to all poor men can keep your families well a year Hop Bitters for less than one doc visit will cost.—A Workingman.

THE ELECTION.

The smoke of the battle of Tuesday last has cleared away; campaign roars and extravagant statements as to results will be consigned to the archives of political fiction and stump speakers, the "stork in trade" to be on the shelf of a succeeding campaign shall again expose it to public view. The election of John D. Butler for Governor of the good old Commonwealth of Massachusetts has been accomplished, and the public mind will now subside to customary quiescence, while political leaders must wait the events of another year's campaign before they can have opportunity to discharge their broadside into ranks of political foes. After storm comes calm, and though we cannot all have our wishes gratified, our expectations realized, the result of the late election shows a determined attempt of the two prominent opposing parties to secure the victory.

The confident expression of Mr. Long's success to which we gave utterance last week, has been verified, and though defeat awaited his opponents we believe that many of that number who formerly affiliated with the Republican party, will not very seriously lament over the decision of the majority of the voters of the State, while his friends will confidently look forward to his administration of the public affairs as one of wise, honest and impartial character.

In the total vote of the State Mr. Long has over 122,000. Gen. Butler nearly 108,000. Mr. Adams about 10,000, and Mr. Eddy 15,000. This result of "whittling down" the Republican plurality of last year about half, is due to the fact that some 12,000 supporters of Republican principles chose to stay at home; this conclusion being evident from the vote for Gen. Butler footing up no gain over that of last year. In some of the towns, among which Weymouth may be specified, the contest was a close one, and as the Republican plurality has been considerably reduced from that of last year, the expression of Independent opinion is to some extent that those who have forsaken their former party predilections for the support of the Independent nominations are much in the condition of the Republican and Free Soil parties at their outset; that their particular political views are taking on vigorous root and have in them a cumulative force which will eventually "sweep the State House clean."

But looking dispassionately at the question we can see no reason for this assurance. The recent vigorous effort to place Gen. Butler in the Governor's chair has not, in the aggregate, advanced him any nearer to the seat of power and authority, and the relative strength of the two parties has been clearly developed and sharply defined by the results of the two last State political campaigns, that the inevitable conclusion in many minds is that Gen. Butler can never be Governor of Massachusetts.

The exact figures of the returns from 342 cities and towns, received as we go to press, give Mr. Long a vote of 122,549; Gen. Butler 108,841; J. Q. Adams 9,825; D. C. Eddy 14,850. The towns not heard from at this time are Gosnold and Duxbury, and it is thought that they will increase Long's plurality to about 13,000.

A statement of the vote in the nineteen cities of the State shows that they give Butler a plurality of 3550. His last year's plurality in those cities was 1236, and he has this year 1000 less total votes there, with a Republican city loss of nearly 6000.

It seems much like raking up dead men's bones to present any record of the closing features of the campaign, just previous to the election. Our attentive South Weymouth correspondent, "Meridius," has furnished us with a lengthy abstract of the remarks of Messrs. Simmons and Butler at the Independent rally in that place last Saturday evening, but though we are under obligations for his courtesy, we think it would read very much like the tabulated pages of a last year's almanac, in these present "piping times of peace." As specimen bricks, however, of Mr. Simmons' campaign oratory, and as he has many personal friends among the various parties in this vicinity, it will be interesting to note his portraiture of the two prominent opposing candidates. "Gen. Butler," he said, "is met by abuse, but mark my word, no fool is ever abused; a fool is only a subject for annoyance. Washington in his time was accused of debauching the nation; Adams was charged with a thirst for party power. Slander is nothing new and deplorable; it is only a subject for annoyance. The time will come when men will recognize their own, and will say that they stand by Gen. Butler, of Lowell, who possesses more brain power than any statesman since Daniel Webster." Mr. Long's record next occupied the attention of the speaker, in which he foreshadowed the sentiment of the surprising political boomerang which made its appearance on the day previous to election, and which, in stigmatizing Mr. Long as the writer of a letter denouncing Lincoln and his Republican supporters as fanatics and enemies of the public good, only needed the explicit and early denial of Mr. Long to rob it of its sting. We say this was foreshadowed in Mr. Simmons' remarks, from the similarity of charges referring to Mr. Long as a Democrat. He contrasted the two candidates, in brief, by saying, "Mr. Long's method is to pretend he don't want office, and then eagerly reach for it. Butler's way you all know. On the one hand he frankness on the other hand is stealth." Considering the personal relations of friendship which have existed between the speaker and Mr. Long, it is clear that in the experience of party zeal, Mr. Simmons, like other speakers on both sides of the political question, simply "stopped over" in his sketch of the Governor elect.

TOWN AND VICINITY.

The Vote of Weymouth.

The returns of the count of ballots cast in Weymouth at the election last Tuesday, are as follows:

GOVERNOR.
John D. Long, of Hingham, 837
Benjamin F. Butler, of Lowell, 786
Daniel C. Eddy, of Hyde Park, 44
John Q. Adams, of Quincy, 35

VICE-GOVERNOR.
Byron Weston, of Dalton, 845
Charles C. Woodworth, of Chippewa, 784
William R. Plunkett, of Pittsfield, 35
Timothy K. Earle, of Worcester, 41

SECRETARY OF STATE.
Henry B. Pierce, of Abington, 804
Michael T. Donohue, of Somerville, 788
Charles A. May, of New Bedford, 45

TREASURER AND RECEIVER-GENERAL.
Charles Endicott, of Canton, 851
David N. Skillings, of Winchester, 856
Henry S. Lunt, of Hyde Park, 41

AUDITOR.
Charles L. Babb, of Springfield, 843
David J. King, of Boston, 784
Charles H. Field, of Greenfield, 35
Jonathan Orne, of Marblehead, 45

ATTORNEY-GENERAL.
George Marston, of New Bedford, 848
William D. Norfield, of Salem, 782
Samuel M. Fairbank, of Malden, 45
Richard Orne, of Boston, 35

COUNCILLOR.
William A. Taylor, of Boston, 847
William A. Hodges, of Quincy, 815
Timothy A. Smith, of Westborough, 44

SENATOR.
Daniel Howard, of Randolph, 811
Nathaniel Adams, of Stoughton, 851
Robert Carter, of Stoughton, 44
Alfred Clark, Franklin, 41

COUNTY COMMISSIONER.
Jabez Talbot, Jr., of Stoughton, 847
Charles C. Sanderson, of Dedham, 813
Alfred Clark, of Franklin, 45
James G. Scott, Walpole, 4

COUNTY TREASURER.
Chauncey C. Chubb, of Dedham, 888
Henry S. Binton, of Hyde Park, 829

REGISTER OF DEEDS.
John H. Burdick, of Dedham, 1708

REPRESENTATIVES.
N. D. Canterbury, of Weymouth, 843
Louis A. Cook, of Weymouth, 815
Edwin B. Pratt, of Quincy, 829
George A. Cushing, of Weymouth, 879
C. A. Cushing, of Weymouth, 1
George A. Cushing, of Weymouth, 1
George W. Dyer, of Weymouth, 44
Charles S. Lloyd, of Weymouth, 44
John W. Pierce, of Weymouth, 40
P. F. Lacy, of Quincy, 596
William B. Worster, of Quincy, 596
Patrick F. Lacy, of Quincy, 251
Abner B. Packard, of Quincy, 187
Wm. Dyer, of Weymouth, 2
Charles S. Lloyd, of Weymouth, 2
John W. Pierce, of Weymouth, 2
Scattering, 14.

In the ballot throughout the county, the result of the election is the return of Nathaniel Adams, of Stoughton for senator, and the election of the Republican candidates for county officers. For Representatives from the Districts of Norfolk county, ten Republican candidates were elected and one Butler. The contest for Representatives in Weymouth was very close, a number of Republicans voting for Mr. Geo. A. Cushing, the Independent candidate, who would have been elected had not the vote of Quincy aided in his defeat.

A comparison of the vote in Weymouth last year for Governor, with that of this year shows that in 1878 the count gave Talbot 567, Butler 575, Abbott 42, Miner 45, in 1879, Long 557, Butler 786, Eddy 45, Adams 35—being 85 Republican loss, 7 Democratic loss this year.

The election was devoid of any special feature of interest aside from the ballot. The number of tickets offered to the consideration of voters was six, all of the regulation pattern, without the usual distinctions of flourishing devices in the headings. The count proceeded with all proper care, and the only "scolding" discovered was the accidental deposit of two ballots which had stuck together, by two different individuals. The count was not concluded until about half-past five, when the more directly interested parties proceeded to Quincy for the returns from that town, while a large number took the trains for Boston, to glean intelligence from the bulletin boards and participate in the more exciting scenes of metropolitan political anxiety. The telegraph office at Weymouth was closed at the usual hour, and the stayers at home could get no authoritative news till about midnight, but were at times greeted with the intelligence that "Butler was from 15,000 to 20,000 ahead," etc., which rumor was exploded when the messengers returned from Boston, and the truth was made known.

No special manifestations of rejoicing were manifest in this town, save the exhibition of small displays of fireworks, but the residents of Hingham, which town has captured another Governor, would not, as might well be supposed, suffer such an event as the election of one of their fellow citizens the highest officer in the State administration to pass unnoticed, and extensive preparations were made to show their respect and esteem for Mr. Long and their exultation at his success. As the larger portion of the vote of Hingham had been cast for the Governor-elect, so the procession which paraded the streets embraced a large representation of the voting residents, including a good delegation from Weymouth, among them being the veteran John P. Lovell, who trudged steadily on and pulled away at the inevitable cigar with a countenance indicating supreme satisfaction with the event which had called out so great a crowd of people.

Hingham was illumined with a blaze of light, the homes of many residents being brilliantly decorated with festoons of Chinese lanterns, and the windows lighted with candles, while showers of roman candles and rockets, with beautiful colored fire, greeted the torch-bearers as they wound their way through the streets of the town, to the music of a twelve pounder resonating at intervals among the "voices of the night." The procession, at length proceeded to the residence of Mr. Long, near which the committee had started a large bonfire, which combined with the display of fireworks in variety to produce a very pleasing effect. The procession halted in front of the dwelling when Mr. Long appeared at the door and he was greeted with music by the band and three times three, to which expressions of friendship he responded by returning his thanks and inviting the entire company to enter the house and partake of his hospitality. The crowd here was poured into the house, and each one received a word of welcome and a grasp of the hand from the host, when they were ushered into the reception room, for introduction to the ladies of the family, after which they were regaled with a temperance repast of choice hot coffee, cake, etc. The remainder of the evening was passed in social manner, and at a seasonable hour the company departed, well pleased with the kind attentions of the host, and with the hospitality of the ladies, and the beautiful decorations particularly tasteful and profuse.

The exercises of the character usual in such meetings, were not up to the average, having at least two very serious defects; the first, it was a misdeed in meeting almost wholly, the exercises being nearly all to them, which gave character and direction to the whole proceedings; and the second, unlimited time given to (or taken by) the essayists who opened the discussions, none of them taking as little as half an hour, while one was a full hour; and however excellent such addresses may be, their length invariably kills the interest of the convention. Another serious fault, with few of the principal speakers, was a want of voice, since they could not be heard outside a very limited circle of hearers. The essays no fault can be found as they were very good, in fact almost too good for the evening, the ground covered by the speakers was very little room for the volunteers who followed.

The verbal reports from the schools were of ordinary interest. A part of the business of the convention was the adoption of a constitution, reported from the last meeting by committee, and a curious incident connected with that, was a refusal of the meeting to allow the report of the Sunday School Society, which was presented at its regular meetings, reserving that for the Spring meeting of the convention. (Handled with Handel left out.) Brief introductions would insure more lively and interesting discussions; but such matters may easily be remedied. What was wanted at such meetings is variety and brevity. Short, sharp and clear essays will, in many particulars, be of more value than long ones.

Our South Weymouth correspondent "E.C." has also furnished a report, which presents additional particulars, as follows: A very interesting meeting of the S. S. Society of the Norfolk Conference was held at Randolph last Tuesday, the 25th inst. A half hour was spent in devotional exercises, and the blessing sought was abundantly bestowed in the eminent Christian spirit manifest in all of the exercises. After the reports from the different schools by their Superintendents, which showed a growing interest in the branch of Christian labor, an essay was read by Rev. Edwin Smith, of South Braintree, upon the pastoral work of the Union Religious Society of Weymouth and Braintree, 1832.

From Elias Richards, Esq., The Speech of Col. Elliot Taylor in the Legislature, 1832, upon the License Law.

From Wm. H. Clapp, Esq., The Family in America, a very handsome bound volume, and a valuable contribution of the generous hospitality of the people, and in social interchange of thought and feeling. The audience responded to the lecture by an essay by Rev. F. N. Pelchard, of Natick, upon "Progress in Sunday School Work." This was a very pleasant and interesting subject, and the subject in rapid attention as he spoke of the use of maps, charts or blackboard exercises in conducting the Sabbath school. The lecture was very timely and well received, and the truth more vital reality.

The next essay, by Miss Lizzie A. Kinsman, of Brockton, upon Primary Class work, was an excellent one, and a package cheaper, than can be obtained elsewhere. The business of the company is rapidly increasing, it having been necessary to procure another order many to attend to the wants of their many customers.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union will hold their regular meeting next Tuesday, at 8 o'clock.

The East Weymouth depot was opened last Tuesday evening for the receipt of news of election.

EAST WEYMOUTH.

Letture Course.
Rev. Jesse Jones, of Abington, delivered his lecture upon "The battle of Gettysburg," last Wednesday evening. This was the seventh lecture in the East Weymouth course, and was attended by the large and intellectual audience, after a few explanatory remarks upon the chart which he had, representing the battle of Gettysburg, the speaker related the story of that notable battle which began on Wednesday, July 1, 1863, and lasted for three days. He said that Gettysburg was the common soldiers' battle. On other fields the success of an engagement has been determined by the judgment of great captains. Here each soldier was a hero, and each man a hero, and that inspiration was the nobility of the cause they were supporting. This battle was the culmination of the war. It was the crisis in our national destiny. Our country had conquered all outward strife; it was now to be determined whether she could withstand intestine conflict.

Rev. R. V. Merchant, the popular and artistic talent at East Weymouth, has received a full and complete course of instruction for the season, and is now prepared to furnish characters for gentlemen, cut and made in superior style at low prices, and warranted to give satisfaction.

Catholic Fair.
The fair in aid of the Church of the Immaculate Conception closed last Friday evening. The fair has been quite a success financially, considerable money being realized by subscription books and by the voting, which taken in the aggregate will amount to more than two thousand dollars. The Catholic Dramatic Club of Weymouth, East Weymouth, Rockland, and Abington, furnished amusement every evening during the week. Tuesday and Wednesday evenings the articles, on which the books had been filled were drawn as follows:

Tuesday evening—Bible of flour, Mrs. Thomas McGovern; basket quilt, Mary T. Callan; cotton cloth, Mrs. Longman; pair blankets, Francis Corrigan; silver cake basket, Nellie O'Brien of Brockton; ton coal, Maggie Cahill; smoking set, R. P. Shaw; cotton cloth, Ellen M. Ryan; picture Pope Pius IX.; D. Wileham; bed spread, James E. Carroll; toilet set, James Quinn; cotton cloth, Mary E. Hyman.

Wednesday evening—Lounge, Mrs. Wm. Valentine, of Hingham; gold ring, Mary E. Monk; coal wood, Patrick Donohue; bed quilt, Bridget A. McGovern; bed quilt, Mary E. Hyland; lamp, Rose Longman; dinner set, Mrs. Katic; Ford; ladies under suit, L. J. Hart; toilet set, Mr. Michael Sheehy.

Mr. Robert T. Bicknell and family have removed to Boston for the winter. He has just received a large lot of fresh self-raising leavened bread from Hockley's manufactory, and they are prepared to sell it at from 4 to 6 cents a package cheaper, than can be obtained elsewhere. The business of the company is rapidly increasing, it having been necessary to procure another order many to attend to the wants of their many customers.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union will hold their regular meeting next Tuesday, at 8 o'clock.

The East Weymouth depot was opened last Tuesday evening for the receipt of news of election.

Mr. John D. Long, of Hingham, delivered his lecture upon "The battle of Gettysburg," last Wednesday evening. This was the seventh lecture in the East Weymouth course, and was attended by the large and intellectual audience, after a few explanatory remarks upon the chart which he had, representing the battle of Gettysburg, the speaker related the story of that notable battle which began on Wednesday, July 1, 1863, and lasted for three days. He said that Gettysburg was the common soldiers' battle. On other fields the success of an engagement has been determined by the judgment of great captains. Here each soldier was a hero, and each man a hero, and that inspiration was the nobility of the cause they were supporting. This battle was the culmination of the war. It was the crisis in our national destiny. Our country had conquered all outward strife; it was now to be determined whether she could withstand intestine conflict.

SOUTH WEYMOUTH.

A Rousing Rally.
Was held Monday evening, under the auspices of the Young Men's Republican Club, Gen. Hall, of Maine, was to be present, but failed to appear, and in his stead Judge A. B. Putnam and Hon. C. Rice addressed the meeting. Judge Putnam's speech was full of "fire and brimstone," characteristic illustrations and keen logic; he hit the nail on the head every time and no mistake. Mr. Rice followed with a calm, sensible exposition of Republican principles which was very convincing.

[A full report of the above meeting was received too late for insertion, but the writer says that previous to the addresses a procession was formed under the marshaling of Capt. Chas. W. Hastings, and escorted the speakers to Music Hall. Many residences were illuminated in honor of the occasion, noticeably those of Noah B. Taylor, Edward Rosenfeld, and J. M. Whitcomb. The Republican headquarters and C. & H. P. Tirrell's shop were also very attractively lighted.

That was a funny thing which Mr. Simmons said Saturday night, "that Mr. L— was a Butlerman, only he lacked the courage of his convictions." Then turning to the gentleman, he smilingly said, "Isn't it so, Ben?"

Hobbs is having a fine lecture and concert lecture course this winter. Wednesday night James Kellogg and Germania Band. Miss Fannie Sprague's name occurs later on.

On Saturday last there was an auction sale of the household belongings of Mrs. L. M. Reed, of Cohasset, of trice-a-bone found, I think, something of interest in this sale.

One of our oracles was asked, the other day, if he wished to purchase a dog. The fire and tripod developed this: "A dog? a dog, eh? Humph, I don't have a day's work for a dog once a year."

We were pleased to see the Hon. B. E. White step up to the polls on Tuesday last.

The Second Cong'l. Church are to hold a fair the first week in December. (Verily, this is the winter of our discontent, more and more so.) Singing and playing by local talent, Grandpa's Birthday by juveniles, and an array of novelties which the public can know nothing of beforehand.

WALTHAM WATCHES!

ELGIN Watches!
WALTHAM Watches!
CLOCKS,
JEWELRY,
Silver & Plated Ware,
Spectacles and
Eye Glasses
IN GOLD, STEEL AND RUBBER FRAMES.
Particular attention given to Watch and Jewelry Repairing.

EDWARD H. FRARY,
Post Office Building, WEYMOUTH.

JOHN H. PRAY
SONS & CO.,
WHOLESALE
—AND—RETAIL
Carpetings

We are now showing a Complete and Choice Variety of MOQUETTES, AXMINSTERS,
WILTONS,
BRUSSELS,
TAPESTRIES, INGRAINS,
MATTINGS,
OIL CLOTHS.

Our Assortment is the Largest to be found in New England, and our Prices will be found to compare favorably with New York or Boston quotations.

JOHN H. PRAY
SONS & CO.,
558 and 560 Washington St.
BOSTON.

C. W. STEVENS

OYSTERS, Fresh Fish,
such as COD, HADDOCK,
MACKEREL,
HALIBUT, PERCH,
BLUE FISH,
SHAD, &c. &c.

Orders may be left at the Grocery Store of F. M. DROWN, Weymouth Landing.

C. W. STEVENS,
BRAINTREE.
Near the Sale Stable of J. Wilkins.

A FINE STOCK OF SPRINGFIELD Watches!
ELGIN Watches!
WALTHAM Watches!
CLOCKS,
JEWELRY,
Silver & Plated Ware,
Spectacles and
Eye Glasses
IN GOLD, STEEL AND RUBBER FRAMES.
Particular attention given to Watch and Jewelry Repairing.

EDWARD H. FRARY,
Post Office Building, WEYMOUTH.

JOHN H. PRAY
SONS & CO.,
WHOLESALE
—AND—RETAIL
Carpetings

We are now showing a Complete and Choice Variety of
MOQUETTES, AXMINSTERS,
WILTONS,
BRUSSELS,
TAPESTRIES, INGRAINS,
MATTINGS,
OIL CLOTHS.

Our Assortment is the Largest to be found in New England, and our Prices will be found to compare favorably with New York or Boston quotations.

JUST ARRIVED!

OYSTERS,
Fresh Fish,
such as COD, HADDOCK,
MACKEREL,
HALIBUT, PERCH,
BLUE FISH,
SHAD, &c. &c.

Orders may be left at the Grocery Store of F. M. DROWN, Weymouth Landing.

C. W. STEVENS,
BRAINTREE.
Near the Sale Stable of J. Wilkins.

A FINE STOCK OF SPRINGFIELD Watches!
ELGIN Watches!
WALTHAM Watches!
CLOCKS,
JEWELRY,
Silver & Plated Ware,
Spectacles and
Eye Glasses
IN GOLD, STEEL AND RUBBER FRAMES.
Particular attention given to Watch and Jewelry Repairing.

EDWARD H. FRARY,
Post Office Building, WEYMOUTH.

JOHN H. PRAY
SONS & CO.,
WHOLESALE
—AND—RETAIL
Carpetings

We are now showing a Complete and Choice Variety of
MOQUETTES, AXMINSTERS,
WILTONS,
BRUSSELS,
TAPESTRIES, INGRAINS,
MATTINGS,
OIL CLOTHS.

Our Assortment is the Largest to be found in New England, and our Prices will be found to compare favorably with New York or Boston quotations.

CHOICE NEW YORK

OYSTERS,
Fresh Fish,
such as COD, HADDOCK,
MACKEREL,
HALIBUT, PERCH,
BLUE FISH,
SHAD, &c. &c.

Orders may be left at the Grocery Store of F. M. DROWN, Weymouth Landing.

C. W. STEVENS,
BRAINTREE.
Near the Sale Stable of J. Wilkins.

A FINE STOCK OF SPRINGFIELD Watches!
ELGIN Watches!
WALTHAM Watches!
CLOCKS,
JEWELRY,
Silver & Plated Ware,
Spectacles and
Eye Glasses
IN GOLD, STEEL AND RUBBER FRAMES.
Particular attention given to Watch and Jewelry Repairing.

EDWARD H. FRARY,
Post Office Building, WEYMOUTH.

JOHN H. PRAY
SONS & CO.,
WHOLESALE
—AND—RETAIL
Carpetings

We are now showing a Complete and Choice Variety of
MOQUETTES, AXMINSTERS,
WILTONS,
BRUSSELS,
TAPESTRIES, INGRAINS,
MATTINGS,
OIL CLOTHS.

Our Assortment is the Largest to be found in New England, and our Prices will be found to compare favorably with New York or Boston quotations.

GR FALL Old 24 and MEN'S Ever before OLD CH 116 CA LOWELL CROSSL KIDDER LINO Ru STAR J. G. Washing Also, GR STAR EVERY OF LOWEST PRICES! 1 very fine Statue Monument, $400, worth $500 2 " Tablets, - - - 125, " 200 Several very fine Tablets, 100, " 150 A number of fine Tablets, 90, " 125 Many others at correspondingly low prices. MARBLE MANTEL from $10 upwards. Send me a postal card and I will call on you. FRED HANSON. As the tide of... view of this... for acknowledgment... will come from... the most perfect... one is a... old, mounted... from our book... This Company... Pres SIC BY WE ROSE "Perfect SPECT EYE Trade... Which are... a degree of... Z. L. B... Jackson Sq.

DR.
W. OR.
Will save the life
B. mail, 23c. C
15 Union Street,

HUMANITARIAN PROGRESS.

The efforts made by the American Humane Association to alleviate the suffering and prevent the torture which in the past has been a matter of indifference with many persons who had the care of animals, is an indication of advancement in humane sympathy and feeling which will permanently ensure to the benefit of every living thing subservient to man's use. It is a profound truth that the good in man only requires proper cultivation to manifest its power, and the world owes a debt to the cultivators of the field of humane effort whose labors have so much reduced the amount of misery which mankind even in civilized communities as well as barbarian lands, have wrought among the brute creation. Much of this maltreatment is due to ignorance and thoughtlessness, and when men have a clearer understanding of what is due to the creatures who bear the yoke and feel the lash while riding in the accomplishment of the world's work, it is a surety that the "merciful man who is faithful to his beast" will be a larger factor in the elevation of humanity than in the past.

The details of the work which the Humane Association has accomplished are embodied in the report of the annual convention, but that much remains to be done, especially in the line of transportation of live stock from the West, is shown by the statements of some of the agents of the association, one of whom has during the past six months traveled a distance of 18,000 miles over the railroads to note the condition of animals when shipped from the West, their treatment in transit, and their condition on arrival. He found the stations where animals were shipped for shipment in many instances, to be unfit for the purpose, cattle standing in mud from four to eight inches deep, without shelter from the hot sun and exposed to storms, day after day, while waiting to be shipped, their suffering aggravated by an entire lack of arrangements for giving them food or water. In respect to overcrowding cars, it was not an uncommon thing to see from eighteen to twenty head of large fat cattle squeezed into a car, and in other cases cattle, cows, young calves and hogs overcrowded in the same manner, the hogs eating the calves while yet alive. He had seen hundreds of cars with cattle so overloaded that there was barely standing room for them, and they would use all their strength to get relief until some humane attendant came and fell to be trampled to death by their companions. Cattle had been sometimes driven to mania by their sufferings, so that they had to be shot; and between these extremes a most terrible amount of needless suffering is possible, suffering which the entire community is injured by, for tortured animals cannot furnish wholesome meat.

But a brighter side is found in this dark picture in the alleviation of the tortures depicted in these statements, by railroad managers and others endeavoring to put an end to needless suffering in furnishing cars fitted for the transportation of cattle, with appliances for feeding and watering at regular intervals, thus showing that the work of the Humane Association has been fruitful in good results, in awakening the public mind to these cruelties and securing a requisition, in transportation, only through which the cattle reach the eastern markets in fit condition for human food.

THE LITTLE WANDERERS HOME.
The Thanksgiving bags which are yearly sent out from the Little Wanderers Home, will come the present week to the superintendents of the various Sunday schools for distribution among families. None of our readers are ignorant of the great good accomplished by this worthy institution. Those who know what it is to supply the constant and varied wants of a family will best realize what this Home means to meet the necessities of the coming winter. That all may be reminded, we will quote their own words from a paragraph headed "What we want." In the Little Wanderers Advocate for November: "Everything edible and everything wearable, potatoes, apples and vegetables, pies, cakes and sausages, beef, pork and pickles, butter, onions and cheese, turkeys and nuts, chickens and tripe, coats, pants and candy, quilts, turnips and cabbages, girls' dresses and dried beef, underclothes and bread, shoes for boys and girls of all ages and corned beef, a few tins of corn and tea, wood by the cord and sugar, vinegar and coffee, hats and pieces of all kinds, whole pieces of cotton cloth and squashes, calico and beans, stockings and raisins, plus and buttons and pickled tongue, pillow slips and lamb."

In brief, the Home wants money, food and clothing.

At present one hundred and thirty-five children are under their generous care, fifteen or twenty of these being under four years of age, and playthings would not be amiss among the little ones. All the families in this vicinity in comfortable circumstances no doubt will consider this worthy enterprise and demonstrate in a practical way their sympathy for it.

INDIAN WRONGS.
Abigail Adams once wrote that "all men would be tyrants if they could," and if she had lived in these days, she might have added a postscript to her letter, asserting that all Indian agents were worse, with some exceptions; basing the assertion on outrages committed on the Poncas, whose wrongs were ventilated at a recent meeting in Boston. For such grievous wrongs, said a female Indian at the meeting, "there is no redress," but she most earnestly desired a remedy for them by the Government.

TOWN AND VICINITY.

A Jump.
Telephone stock took a sudden rise last week, owing to the consolidation of rival companies, and it is rumored that a resident of Weymouth scooped in a hundred thousand dollars by the rise, having bought at about $60 dollars, the advance being to nearly $100. This rumor has no foundation, as far as we can learn, but somebody made a big pile of money by the rise.

Camp Fire.
The boys of Post 38 are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the evening arriving for their visit to the Brockton Post, which will be one of the most brilliant events of the season, as Fletcher Webster Post will give them a roasting welcome. The visit occurs Tuesday evening, Nov. 25.

Sold.
A couple of political opponents came very near to a combat the other day at the landing, through a remark of the Republican that if General Butler had been elected he wouldn't have been Governor long. The Independent didn't see the point of the joke, and with visions of dire evil designs against the General, he threatened summary vengeance upon the rag, who, however, smothered the other's wrath by saying, "How could he be Governor Loxe?"

The Public Library.
Will be open for delivery of books before many weeks have elapsed, and already the doubtful portion of the community are impatiently awaiting the time when they can cram with literature to their hearts content, free of expense. The catalogue will probably be a pamphlet of about 50 pages, embracing 2500 volumes, and the selection of works for the library is considered to be a very judicious one.

27-28 & 30 for choice Butter. Boston Grocery Co., East Weymouth.

Sunday Evening Lectures.
The second lecture in the Universalist series by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Tinsley, will be given next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, subject, Sources of the encouraging signs in the Temperance work. All are cordially invited. Seats free.

"France and Europe since 1848."
As may be seen by advertisement Professor Alois Tripp, the well known lecturer on Europe, will deliver shortly in Weymouth Landing, should the patronage warrant, a course of his lectures descriptive of the latest great epochs of French and European history, and the prominent actors, including the Eastern Question illustrated by maps, the information being largely from personal and original sources. The lectures have been extensively delivered in the principal cities and have attracted great attention. They are most warmly and enthusiastically commended by such as have heard them, embracing the most cultured and distinguished minds everywhere. By the concurrent testimony of the leading press and eminent authorities at home and abroad our intelligent citizens may well expect a rare intellectual treat.

W. C. T. U.
The Woman's Christian Temperance Union held coffee party and sale in their rooms last Friday evening, which proved a great success, about $25 being realized as an increase to the treasury. Besides the fine display of useful and fancy articles, and the refreshments, an entertainment was given consisting of singing by Mrs. Eva Baker, Lewis Tilden officiating at the organ, recitations by Annie Burdell, Russell Beale and George Richards.

Renowned Dissolution.
It is reported that Union Lodge, I. O. G. T., of Weymouth, contemplate a surrender of their charter, the number of members being so small that it is deemed inadvisable to continue its work.

Pulpit Exchange.
Rev. E. D. Hall, of the M. E. church, East Weymouth, occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church last Sunday P. M. Rev. G. F. Stanton of South Weymouth preached at the Union Church on Sunday in exchange with Rev. A. H. Hall.

The Weather.
Has been of a decidedly capricious nature the past week, the thermometer ranging from the twenties to the seventies. Wednesday night a very refreshing shower, about $25 being realized as an increase to the treasury. Besides the fine display of useful and fancy articles, and the refreshments, an entertainment was given consisting of singing by Mrs. Eva Baker, Lewis Tilden officiating at the organ, recitations by Annie Burdell, Russell Beale and George Richards.

A good order.
Mr. John Kelley, of Weymouth, marble worker, is filling a large number of orders for monumental work, among his orders being a handsome marble monument and grave markers for the Allison lot in the Village Cemetery.

The Golden Wedding.
TO DEAR AND MRS. PERLEY STEEDMAN, NOV. 4th, 1879.
On the 4th of Nov. at Kennebec, Maine, where flowers and fruits the landscape deck, they met, and there their love first lighted just fifty years ago tonight. The bride has often loved to tell how once a preacher tried full well to win her to his heart and soul, but while he missed, love's burning flame in Perley's heart with fiery came; He popped the question, plain, outright, just fifty years ago tonight. What came of it? Ah, listen well, it is a tale over time to tell, of wedding bells and tears, and through all the years of golden years, they told, while each the others held, And each the other's joy did share; Not rich nor poor, but just between, Where lies the happy golden mean.

As early years passed swift away.
'Twas on a bright autumnal day, Their hearts at first in love combine, They called the baby Caroline. Sweet June next, in sandy light, She looks her love on as tonight; Her household with the household hand, That dwelt in love in heavenly land, Then wedded love flowered out anew, For short, they called this baby Sue. The mother's thought, the daughter's act, For she the preacher caught to fall. One daughter more love's cup to fill, They call her baby Liza Lida. We count them all, the perfect four, Love could not ask of love the more.

From far off shore of Kennebec.
Where flowers and fruits the landscape deck, They came, and dwell in love's delight, In this day hallowed home tonight. Spared fifty years by many's hand, Their children's children round them stand, Their joy our joy, their love our love, The foster-love of the home above. This night with golden memories bright, Is full of hopes undimmed light. The past secure, the future true, With blessing hallowed ever new. The ring, like bells, a psalm of life, Years long to bless this man and wife, Ring out, O golden bells, your tone, In honor of this home, sweet home.

Deaths.
The whole number of deaths in the town of Weymouth during the month of October were thirteen, and of the following diseases: scarlet fever, 1; cerebral meningitis, 1; apoplexy, 1; consumption, 1; peritonitis, 1; haemiplegia, 1; meningitis, 1; paralysis of liver, 1; brain disease, 1; cancer of the breast, 1; inflammation of the spine; 1; pulmonary phthisis, 1; spasmoid colic.

Deaths.
The whole number of deaths in the town of Weymouth during the month of October were thirteen, and of the following diseases: scarlet fever, 1; cerebral meningitis, 1; apoplexy, 1; consumption, 1; peritonitis, 1; haemiplegia, 1; meningitis, 1; paralysis of liver, 1; brain disease, 1; cancer of the breast, 1; inflammation of the spine; 1; pulmonary phthisis, 1; spasmoid colic.

Deaths.
The whole number of deaths in the town of Weymouth during the month of October were thirteen, and of the following diseases: scarlet fever, 1; cerebral meningitis, 1; apoplexy, 1; consumption, 1; peritonitis, 1; haemiplegia, 1; meningitis, 1; paralysis of liver, 1; brain disease, 1; cancer of the breast, 1; inflammation of the spine; 1; pulmonary phthisis, 1; spasmoid colic.

Deaths.
The whole number of deaths in the town of Weymouth during the month of October were thirteen, and of the following diseases: scarlet fever, 1; cerebral meningitis, 1; apoplexy, 1; consumption, 1; peritonitis, 1; haemiplegia, 1; meningitis, 1; paralysis of liver, 1; brain disease, 1; cancer of the breast, 1; inflammation of the spine; 1; pulmonary phthisis, 1; spasmoid colic.

Deaths.
The whole number of deaths in the town of Weymouth during the month of October were thirteen, and of the following diseases: scarlet fever, 1; cerebral meningitis, 1; apoplexy, 1; consumption, 1; peritonitis, 1; haemiplegia, 1; meningitis, 1; paralysis of liver, 1; brain disease, 1; cancer of the breast, 1; inflammation of the spine; 1; pulmonary phthisis, 1; spasmoid colic.

Deaths.
The whole number of deaths in the town of Weymouth during the month of October were thirteen, and of the following diseases: scarlet fever, 1; cerebral meningitis, 1; apoplexy, 1; consumption, 1; peritonitis, 1; haemiplegia, 1; meningitis, 1; paralysis of liver, 1; brain disease, 1; cancer of the breast, 1; inflammation of the spine; 1; pulmonary phthisis, 1; spasmoid colic.

Deaths.
The whole number of deaths in the town of Weymouth during the month of October were thirteen, and of the following diseases: scarlet fever, 1; cerebral meningitis, 1; apoplexy, 1; consumption, 1; peritonitis, 1; haemiplegia, 1; meningitis, 1; paralysis of liver, 1; brain disease, 1; cancer of the breast, 1; inflammation of the spine; 1; pulmonary phthisis, 1; spasmoid colic.

Deaths.
The whole number of deaths in the town of Weymouth during the month of October were thirteen, and of the following diseases: scarlet fever, 1; cerebral meningitis, 1; apoplexy, 1; consumption, 1; peritonitis, 1; haemiplegia, 1; meningitis, 1; paralysis of liver, 1; brain disease, 1; cancer of the breast, 1; inflammation of the spine; 1; pulmonary phthisis, 1; spasmoid colic.

Deaths.
The whole number of deaths in the town of Weymouth during the month of October were thirteen, and of the following diseases: scarlet fever, 1; cerebral meningitis, 1; apoplexy, 1; consumption, 1; peritonitis, 1; haemiplegia, 1; meningitis, 1; paralysis of liver, 1; brain disease, 1; cancer of the breast, 1; inflammation of the spine; 1; pulmonary phthisis, 1; spasmoid colic.

Deaths.
The whole number of deaths in the town of Weymouth during the month of October were thirteen, and of the following diseases: scarlet fever, 1; cerebral meningitis, 1; apoplexy, 1; consumption, 1; peritonitis, 1; haemiplegia, 1; meningitis, 1; paralysis of liver, 1; brain disease, 1; cancer of the breast, 1; inflammation of the spine; 1; pulmonary phthisis, 1; spasmoid colic.

Deaths.
The whole number of deaths in the town of Weymouth during the month of October were thirteen, and of the following diseases: scarlet fever, 1; cerebral meningitis, 1; apoplexy, 1; consumption, 1; peritonitis, 1; haemiplegia, 1; meningitis, 1; paralysis of liver, 1; brain disease, 1; cancer of the breast, 1; inflammation of the spine; 1; pulmonary phthisis, 1; spasmoid colic.

Deaths.
The whole number of deaths in the town of Weymouth during the month of October were thirteen, and of the following diseases: scarlet fever, 1; cerebral meningitis, 1; apoplexy, 1; consumption, 1; peritonitis, 1; haemiplegia, 1; meningitis, 1; paralysis of liver, 1; brain disease, 1; cancer of the breast, 1; inflammation of the spine; 1; pulmonary phthisis, 1; spasmoid colic.

Deaths.
The whole number of deaths in the town of Weymouth during the month of October were thirteen, and of the following diseases: scarlet fever, 1; cerebral meningitis, 1; apoplexy, 1; consumption, 1; peritonitis, 1; haemiplegia, 1; meningitis, 1; paralysis of liver, 1; brain disease, 1; cancer of the breast, 1; inflammation of the spine; 1; pulmonary phthisis, 1; spasmoid colic.

EAST WEYMOUTH.

Session of the Grand Temple.
The semi-annual session of the Grand Temple will be held on Thursday, Nov. 20, at 10 o'clock, a. m. in the hall of Mechanics Temple, East Weymouth. The G. W. R. will furnish, in the Grand Temple, free return tickets, good for two days, which the O. C. R. R. have kindly agreed to furnish.

The lady friends of Mechanics Temple will see that the Representatives will not leave East Weymouth without having a good dinner.

Mechanics Temple will hold a public meeting in the evening, which all are cordially invited to attend, and by a small extra expense, those remaining can be conveyed back to Baintree in time to take the 10:24 train, arriving in Boston at 10:55 P. M.

Public Reception.
Representative elect Nathan D. Canterbury, Esq. gave a public reception to his friends and supporters, in Masonic banquet hall, last Friday evening. Tables were laid the entire length of the hall and were loaded with viands of the most sumptuous kind, the tables being filled to repletion with every conceivable delicacy. At an early hour the guests were seated and commenced the attack on the viands with energy, and after disposing of the good things provided, congratulatory speeches were made by Messrs. John P. Lovell, Z. L. Bicknell, Thomas H. Humphrey, John Pennington, J. J. Mahoney, John W. Bates, S. Q. Tirrell and Dr. E. W. Fay. During the evening the host was with the alert, looking out for the comfort and pleasure of his guests. The company dispersed at a late hour, well satisfied with their choice for Representative and feeling that their confidence had not been misplaced in the selection of a candidate.

Public Installation.
D. W. W. Chief Templar Chas. A. Follett, assisted by D. D. Grand Usher Walter Simmons, of Granite Temple of Quincy, and P. W. C. T. John Nelson, of Mechanics Temple, installed the officers elect of Mechanics Temple of Honor, No. 25, O. T. T. Friday evening last, at Temple of Honor Hall, a large assembly of brothers and their families being present.

Worthy Chief Templar, Stephen Tirrell.
W. V. V. Templar, Alfred R. Seabury, W. Recorder, Waldo Turner, W. Asst. Recorder, Edwin Chapman, W. Financial Recorder, Wm. J. Sharples.

Treasurer, John W. Tirrell.
W. Chaplain, Josiah Vinal, W. Usher, Leonard W. Cain, W. Deputy Usher, Jas. A. Vining, W. Guardian, Geo. W. Nash, W. Sentinel, J. J. Sprague, P. W. Chief Templar, John Nelson.

After the impressive ceremonies were concluded, remarks were made by Deputy Follett, D. D. G. W. Templar, Rev. P. P. Chapin, D. C. of G. C. D. Lincoln, P. W. C. T. Geo. W. Dyer, J. S. Sprague, Waldo Turner, and others, accompanied with singing by a quartette, and a duet by Mrs. Benj. S. Lovell and Mrs. Emma F. Lane. The exercises concluded with the closing ode.

On Saturday evening, the officers elect of Delphi Council No. 12, were also installed by D. C. G. C. David P. Lincoln, assisted by D. P. C. G. C. Wm. T. Rice, and D. M. of G. C. Willard J. Dunbar, in full Templar uniform, making a most impressive display.

Chief of Council, Minot P. Garay.
Sec. D. J. Sinclair Sprague, Junior Sec. Joseph Sherman, Recorder, Abiel T. Thomas, Treasurer, David W. Bates, Manager, Waldo Turner, Deputy do, M. Collier, Protector, John Bodine, Chaplain, J. Quincy Spear.

The members of the Council contemplate the purchase of the beautiful Select Templars parade uniform, at an early date.

The Weymouth Temperance Union will meet in the Reform Club Rooms, East Weymouth, on Monday evening, Nov. 17, at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of electing officers and transaction of other business.

27-28 & 30 for choice Butter. Boston Grocery Co., East Weymouth.

Seating Completion.
The Church of the Immaculate Conception is rapidly nearing completion. A new iron fence, from the foundry of Healy Bros., New York, has been set up in front of the church by Mr. Samuel Healey, of this village, and adds greatly to the general appearance of the exterior of the church. The interior of the church is superb and unique, the work of decorating the altar and setting up the pews being under the immediate supervision of Mr. Keely, the popular New York architect. The church will be all completed about the first of next week, and will be dedicated one week from Sunday next.

Shoe Business.
Leaving beginning to revive. The cutters have resumed work, both in Messrs. Canterbury & Haskell's and M. C. Dier & Co.'s factories, and it is probable that within a few weeks business in both of these large establishments, as well as in several of the smaller ones, will be "booming." The prospects of a good season's work are, indeed, flattering to the manipulators of "the leather and the knife."

Catholic Fair.
The following are the articles drawn the last evening which were omitted last week: Photograph album, Margaret Hanley; table cloth, M. Cronan; duffel, C. Cronan; bracket, P. Cronan; map, E. Cronan; coffee, P. Cronan; silver tea set, D. Cronan; extension table, Mrs. Edward Faber; patch quilt, Sarah Lynch; silver butter dish, D. Cronan; china tea set, John M. Cronan; oil painting, H. A. Reed; clock, Mrs. M. Cronan; silver cake basket, Wm. Fogarty; toilet set, Sarah Lynch; toilet set, H. Hanley; silver casket, Maggie Cronan; paravase, Alfred Bates; bed quilt, Alice Jones; lady's under suit, Ellen Daily; blankets, Thos. Cronan; table cloth, B. A. Cronan; dinner set, Lizzie Cronan; child's chair, Mary Daily; chest of tea, Mrs. Michael Cronan; air balloon, Mrs. Cronan; bed quilt, A. F. Cronan; chamber clock, Deane Cronan; lamp, Mrs. Wm. Cronan; toilet set, Nellie Cronan; silver casket, Budget Cronan; china tea set, James Cronan; gold watch, Frank Cronan; gold watch, Mary Cronan.

The two guests presented by Messrs. W. A. Hodges and A. F. Rickard, were won by Mr. Frank Martin, of South Weymouth, and Messrs. John Cronan and Daniel Cronan.

The gentleman's easy chair was voted to Mr. Robert Cronan, the French kid doll to Miss Cronan, and the net proceeds resulting from the fair amounted to $245.

D. J. M.
M. C. Dier & Co. are having the part of their manufactory formerly used as a currying shop raised.

The lecture in the Cong'l Church next Wednesday evening will be by Rev. Mr. Haylett—subject, "Ush and the Mormons." Mr. Haylett has resided in Salt Lake City, and the lecture is said to be highly interesting to those who have heard it.

27-28 & 30 for choice Butter. Boston Grocery Co., East Weymouth.

27-28 & 30 for choice Butter. Boston Grocery Co., East Weymouth.

27-28 & 30 for choice Butter. Boston Grocery Co., East Weymouth.

27-28 & 30 for choice Butter. Boston Grocery Co., East Weymouth.

27-28 & 30 for choice Butter. Boston Grocery Co., East Weymouth.

27-28 & 30 for choice Butter. Boston Grocery Co., East Weymouth.

27-28 & 30 for choice Butter. Boston Grocery Co., East Weymouth.

27-28 & 30 for choice Butter. Boston Grocery Co., East Weymouth.

27-28 & 30 for choice Butter. Boston Grocery Co., East Weymouth.

27-28 & 30 for choice Butter. Boston Grocery Co., East Weymouth.

27-28 & 30 for choice Butter. Boston Grocery Co., East Weymouth.

27-28 & 30 for choice Butter. Boston Grocery Co., East Weymouth.

NORTH WEYMOUTH.

Lecture.
The unfavorable weather of last Tuesday evening did not prevent a large number from hearing the address of Sergeant I. W. Ambler upon temperance, in the Old North Church. The lecture abounded with incidents which had come under the Sergeant's observation, showing that temperate men can do more work and are stronger every way than the user of intoxicating liquors. The speaker thought that active work was needed to leave East Weymouth without having a good dinner.

Mr. E. W. Shackford has given up his contract to paint the Methodist Church.

Kit Carson, Jr., and Dr. Red Wing have been in town during the past week, and at a pigeon shoot, near the Weymouth House, found their equal in Mr. Geo. W. Bates, of this village, who shot more pigeons than either of them.

Mr. Elijah Hobart, residing on High St., is the owner of a cow weighing 1300 lbs.

The following officers of South Shore Community were installed last Monday evening by Eminent Sir Geo. W. Fay: Em. Com., Wm. S. Wallace; Gen., James H. Clapp; Capt. Gen., E. W. H. Bass; Prelate, Chas. H. Pratt; S. Warden, A. J. Garay; J. Warden, T. H. Humphrey; Treas., E. G. Bates; Recorder, C. N. Marsh; Sword Bearer, J. A. Fogel; Standard Bearer, F. J. Fuller; Warden, Wm. Fearing, 2d; Guards, Nathan A. Brickett, Hiram Raymond, Wm. Cushing; Organist, Richard A. Hunt; Sentinel and Armorer, John Nelson.

The entertainment consisted of readings by Mrs. Florence T. Hunt, song by Alvah Raymond, and music by the company under the direction of Mr. B. F. Clapp. Alvah Raymond, Jr., prepared an excellent supper for the ladies, and Messrs. Cushing and Mellen, of Weymouth, presented a beautiful bouquet of hot house flowers to the Eminent Commander. After the installation the company enjoyed a social dance until about 12 o'clock and returned to their respective homes, having enjoyed an evening long to be remembered.

Mr. Luther Sampson, of Burlington, Vt., aged 83 years, has been visiting his nephew, Mr. Josephus Sampson, of Baintree, and called on his old friend and schoolmate, Dr. Alvah Raymond, of East Weymouth, whom he had not seen since 1814. Of course, such a visit could not fail to be a welcome one, and the occasion was a source of great pleasure to both of these venerable gentlemen, in recounting the scenes and events of their life history.

Star of Promise Section of Cadets of T. A. H. are perfecting arrangements for an interesting public entertainment, to be given within a few weeks. This organization is a very useful adjunct of temperance work.

No news this week; everybody has gone gunning, and that isn't the worst of it: there will be none when they return.

Daniel Barrows has leased Josiah Reed's place on Main St. for three years.

There is a coach free to singers and musicians that runs to Clapp's hall every Sunday evening from South Weymouth. Every one should go and hear the fishes gambol and the lambkins skip.

Mr. Frost, who some years ago gave a series of interesting Biblical lectures in this place is coming again soon, and will present "Jephthah's Daughter," under the auspices of the Universalist Society.

The ministers preached, as desired by the recent Conference, on "the proper observance of the Sabbath."

There's a horrid man up this way who chases people nights. Who can he be? MENIDIES.

Change.
The steamers of the Fall River line now leave New York for Fall River at 4:30 P. M., instead of 5 o'clock.

District Court.
Cases before the District Court in Quincy last week were as follows: Timothy Cronin, of Quincy, for being drunk, fined $3 and costs; sent to Deshford for 4 months, for assault on an officer.

Andrew Tracy, on complaint of officer Binney, for being drunk, was fined $3 and costs.

Three vagrants arrested at Weymouth were discharged.

Personal.
An advertisement was received from an agent, enclosing payment for a notice of the "Denver Land Co.", which has been pronounced a swindle. As the notice appeared in many prominent local papers, other publishers, like ourselves, supposed it to be all right, evidently.

THE SOCIAL CIRCLE
—OF THE—
First Universalist Society, of Weymouth, will give a

COFFEE PARTY
IN LINCOLN HALL, FRIDAY EVENING, Nov. 21, when there will be an exhibition

MRS. JARLEY'S Famous Collection of WAX WORKS.

These figures have been gathered at great expense from all quarters of the globe, and all who have not seen them should avail themselves of the present opportunity.

Particulars will be given in posters.

PROFESSOR TRIPP'S
Grand Descriptive Series

FRANCE AND EUROPE
SINCE 1848.

The officers elect of Wessagusset Lodge, I. O. G. T. of Lovell's Corner, are as follows:

W. C. T. P. Dexter Pratt; W. V. T. Abbas A. Shaw; W. S. John L. Shaw; W. F. S. Hattie Barker; W. T. Annie Ford; W. M. Theron A. Paul; W. C. P. A. Spilstead; W. L. G. David White; W. O. G. Geo. F. Maynard.

The officers of Highland Light Lodge, I. O. G. T. were installed last Friday evening by Deputy W. C. T. Charles Hayes.

27-28 & 30 for choice Butter. Boston Grocery Co., East Weymouth.

27-28 & 30 for choice Butter. Boston Grocery Co., East Weymouth.

27-28 & 30 for choice Butter. Boston Grocery Co., East Weymouth.

C. W. STEVENS

OYSTERS,
Norfolk, Chesapeake Bay and Providence River.

Fresh Fish,
such as COD, HADDOCK, MACKEREL, HALIBUT, PERCH, BLUE FISH, SHAD, &c. &c.

Orders may be left at the Grocery Store of F. M. DROWN, Weymouth Landing.

C. W. STEVENS, BRAINTREE.
Near the State Stable of J. Wilkins.

New Advertisements.

A FINE STOCK OF

SPRINGFIELD Watches!

ELGIN Watches!

WALTHAM Watches!

CLOCKS, JEWELRY,

Silver & Plated Ware, Spectacles and Eye Glasses

IN GOLD, STEEL AND RUBBER FRAMES.

Particular attention given to Watch and Jewelry Repairing.

EDWARD H. FRARY,
Post Office Building, WEYMOUTH.

John H. Pray

SONS & CO.,

WHOLESALE

RETAIL

Carpetings

MOQUETTES,

AXMINSTERS,

WILTONS,

BRUSSELS,

A. F.
PHOTO
CHILDREN

DR.
W.

Will save the
By mail, 25c
15 Union Street

Weymouth Gazette.

BRAINTREE REPORTER.

VOL. 13.

WEYMOUTH, MASS., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1879.

NO. 30.

The Weymouth Gazette.
PUBLISHED BY
C. G. KANTERBROOK
EVERY FRIDAY, AT WEYMOUTH, MASS.
Terms: Two Dollars a Year in advance.
Single Copy, Five Cents.
Orders for all kinds of Printing will receive prompt attention, and be neatly and correctly executed.

Business Cards.

FRANK W. LEWIS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
WEYMOUTH, MASS.

HAY AND STRAW!
Bundle Hay and Straw
FOR SALE BY
JOS. LOUD & CO.,
WEYMOUTH LANDING

C. S. WILLIAMS,
Stock Broker.
U. S. SECURITIES, STOCKS &
BONDS
Bought and sold on commission. In Boston,
New York and San Francisco. Money advanced on Stocks and Bonds purchased by us.
Basement Old State House,
BOSTON. 15 ft.

W. K. BAKER & SON,
—DEALERS IN—GRAIN, MEAL,
HAY, STRAW, &c.
CONSTANTLY ON HAND, and FOR SALE
wholesale and retail, at Lowest Cash Prices.
Also, MISCELLANEOUS, for the BAKERS' EXPRESS.
Weymouth Landing.

FLOOD & CUSTANCE,
BLACKSMITHS,
Corner of Common and Washington Streets,
Weymouth Landing.
HORSESHOEING AND CAR-
RIAGE WORK of all kinds,
DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

Don't Forget
B. F. Godwin,
HAIR DRESSER,
JACKSON SQUARE, EAST WEYMOUTH,
27th St.

W. I. JORDAN
RESPECTFULLY informs the public that he has established himself
NEW BOUTIQUE, 1111
SHAW ST., EAST BRAintree, and is prepared to fill all orders for BLACKSMITH WORK, HORSE
SHOEING, CARRIAGE WORK,
etc. A share of public patronage is solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.

Henry L. Thayer,
LIVERY, BOARDING & BAITING
STABLE,
Washington Square, WEYMOUTH,
27th St.

JOSEPH SHERMAN, DEALER IN COAL, WOOD,
—AND—LIME, CEMENT, BUNDLE HAY & STRAW
Flour, Grain, Feed,
BRICK, LATHS, HAIR, SAND, etc.
Wood Sawn for $5.50 per Cord.
Also, AGENT for several FIRE INSURANCE
COMPANIES, both STOCK and MUTUAL.
OFFICE, WAREHOUSE, EAST STREET,
EAST WEYMOUTH.

GEO. W. HERSEY
Painter and Glazier,
—AND DEALER IN—
Paints, Oil, Glass, Varnish, Putty, Glue.
Shop in Geo. S. Baker's building, near the corner of Richmond Street.
Weymouth Landing.

WEYMOUTH & BRAintree
Mutual Fire Insurance Co.,
OF WEYMOUTH.
Insures Jewellings, and other Buildings
not extra Hazardous.
Amount at Risk, April 1, 1877, $1,814,574.00
Amount of Assets, " " 85,920.98
N. L. WHITE, President.
ELIAS RICHARDS, Secretary.

For First-class Cabinet Portraits,
—GO TO—
BUSSELL'S, QUINCY, MASS.

HORSE WANTED!
YOUNG, safe, sound and kind, weight about 1000 lbs., color brown, black or bay, not aged, of cars or other goods, driver and worker. If you have such a one, don't work it, but send him to GRANTVILLE THOMSON.

A. FRANK BURRELL,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST,
QUINCY, MASS.
CHILDREN'S PICTURES a Specialty.

DR. LA ROY'S
WORM POWDER

Good News Range,
—AND—DARLING RANGE

THANKSGIVING 50 CENT. PRICE LIST —OF THE— BOSTON GROCERY CO.

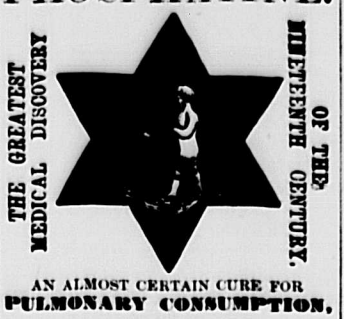

- | | |
|---|------------------------------------|
| 3 1/2 lbs. New London Muscatel Raisins. | 5 1/2 " Pure Leaf Lard. |
| 4 1/2 lbs. nice Muscatel Raisins. | 6 bars Dobbins' Soap. |
| 5 " Valencia Raisins. | 7 " French Laundry Soap. |
| 6 " best new Currants. | 7 " Queen " |
| 5 " French Prunes. | 7 " Ex. No. 1 R.P.V. " |
| 2 " best Lohorn Citron. | 8 " Family " |
| 6 " new Dates. | 17 " Famous C. & D. " |
| 3 " " Choice Figs. | 17 large bars Family " |
| 2 " " Layer Figs. | 4 lbs. Mottled Castile " |
| 3 " " Filberts. | 3 " Pure Olive White Castile Soap. |
| 3 " Castanas. | 9 bars Welcome, C.D. & Co. do. |
| 3 " Naples Walnuts. | 10 " Tulip, C. L. Jones Soap. |
| 2 " New Almonds. | 13 " Globe " " |
| 3 " Pecans. | 7 " Mineral " |
| 7 qts. Peanuts. | 5 cans Babbitt's Potash. |
| 4 " Chestnuts. | 7 qts. Cranberries. |
| 6 " Shellbarks. | 7 1/2 " New Medium Beans. |
| 3 lbs. New Mixed Nuts. | 6 1/2 " Pea " |
| 3 " Sugared Almonds, tinned. | 6 1/2 " Yellow Eye " |
| 3 " French do. do. | 7 " Split Peas. |
| 3 " " Chocolate Creams. | 7 " Green Canada Peas. |
| 3 " " Gum Drops. | 3 doz. Lemons. |
| 4 " " Nice " | 10 lbs. Fancy Flour. |
| 3 " Cream Checkerberries. | 12 " Haxall Flour. |
| 3 " best French Mixture. | 17 " Granulated Meal. |
| 4 " choice Broken Candy. | 13 " Canada Oat Meal. |
| 3 " French Cream Peppermints. | 11 " Scotch " |
| 7 " Common Crackers. | 12 " Irish " |
| 6 " Oyster " | 13 " Schupp's Coconut. |
| 5 1/2 " Soda " | 2 Clothes Lines, 80 ft. each. |
| 9 " Ship " | 1 large Clothes Basket. |
| 5 " Real Butter " | 13 bottles Carter's Ink. |
| 5 " Cornhill " | 20 cks. Oat Meal Toilet Soap. |
| 3 " Star " | 9 bottles Mucilage. |
| 3 " Animal " | 5 cakes Toilet Soap, Colgate's. |
| 3 " Egg " | 3 " " " |
| 3 " Graham " | 7 pieces Choice Smoking Tobacco. |
| 4 " Ginger Wafers. | 10 Havana Cigars. |
| 4 " Wine Crackers. | 25 dozen Clothes Pins. |
| 5 " best Ginger Snaps. | 10 bottles Blueing, Sawyer's. |
| 6 " " Pilot Bread. | 4 Brooms, very good. |
| 11 " choice Mixed Tea. | 3 Stove Brushes. |
| 11 " Oolong " | 2 Shoe " |
| 11 " Formosa " | 6 1/2 lbs. Salt Pork. |
| 11 " Oolong " | 11 " Cod Fish. |
| 11 " Hyson " | 2 galls. Vinegar, strictly pure. |
| 11 " Mocha & Java Coffee. | 5 " Kerosene Oil, warranted. |
| 11 " Old Gov't. Java " | 8 lbs. Boneless Fish. |
| 11 " Rio " | 2 " Arrowroot. |
| 11 " Peainger " | 5 " Alum " |
| 11 " Maracabo " | 5 " Pure Mustard, loose. |
| 11 " Hayward's " | 4 " Irish Moss. |
| 11 " Cassia, Pure " | 6 " Pearl Tapioca. |
| 11 " Ginger, " | 12 " Gum Arabic. |
| 1 " Cloves, " | 6 " Whiting. |
| 1 " Pimento, " | 7 " Punice Stone, loose. |
| 11 " Pepper " | 9 " White Corn Flour. |
| 11 " Pure Cream Tartar. | 9 " Hominy. |
| 8 cans Assorted Herbs. | 26 " Pembroke Salt. |
| 5 bot. Ext. Lemon. | 26 " Table " |
| 4 " " Vanilla. | 27 " Liverpool " |
| 4 " " Strawberry. | 7 boxes Salt, 5 lbs. each. |
| 3 " " Lemon, Burnett's. | 5 Water Pails. |
| 2 " " Vanilla. | 1 Wooden Tray. |
| 1 qt. bot. Imported Sweet Oil. | 6 Assorted Tumblers Jelly. |
| 2 large bot. American " | 2 large Jars Nice " |
| 4 half pt. bot. " " | 2 bottles Honey " |
| 5 bot. Tomato Ketchup. | 31 quarts Onions. |
| 2 " Walnut " | 1 1/2 lbs. Macaroni. |
| 6 " North England Sauce. | 10 pkgs. Rising Sun Stove Polish. |
| 3 " " " | 2 doz. Washing Crystal, Hoffman's. |
| 4 cans Keen's Eng. Mustard. | 4 pkgs. Farina, "Hecker's." |
| 5 " S. & P. " | 5 " Mazina. |
| 5 " White Pepper. | 6 " Silver Gloss Starch. |
| 5 " Cayenne " | 6 " Gilbert's Corn Starch. |
| 3 " Lobster. | 2 lbs. Yeast Potatoes, loose. |
| 3 " Salmon. | 20 " Sweet Potatoes. |
| 5 Brush Brooms. | 3 " Hornb's Oat Meal. |
| 3 Scrubbing Brushes. | 2 kgs. Fancy Early Rose Potatoes. |
| 5 lbs. Gillet's Bird Food. | 1 " Eating Apples. |
| 2 bot. Fancy Pickles, etc. | 6 lbs. Best Carolina Rice. |
| 13 large boxes Shoe Blacking. | 7 " Rangoon Rice. |
| 50 Cheroot Cigars. | 7 " Flake Tapioca. |
| 2 bottles Tamarinds. | 10 " Fresh Shells. |
| 3 quarter boxes Sardines. | 18 " Washing Soda. |
| 2 " " " P. & C. | 4 1/2 qts. Rape Seed. |
| 1 " bot. Imported Pickles. | 5 1/2 " Canary " |
| 6 bot. American Mustard. | 5 1/2 " Hemp " |
| 4 " Imported " | 9 lbs. Wheat. |
| 4 " Pickles, assorted. | 8 " Laundry Starch. |
| 2 large bottles Capers. | 7 " Saleratus, loose. |
| 1 1/2 choice Table Butter. | 10 " Pearl Barley. |

The Price List is subject to fluctuation of the Market.

BOSTON GROCERY CO.

R. P. VALIQUET, PROP'R.,
Jackson Sq., East Weymouth.

THE FOOD REMEDY. PHOSPHATINE.

AN ALMOST CERTAIN CURE FOR PULMONARY CONSUMPTION.
—AND—
ALL NERVOUS DISEASES.
The new medical Food Remedy, a powerful tonic, but is as pleasant to the taste as a glass of good wine. It can be taken at meal times in the same way as the juice of grapes. Its use is recommended by leading physicians.
It is a remedy which will cure consumption and dyspepsia, and should therefore attract the attention of the entire world.
PHOSPHATINE
is a great tonic to nervous people. Hundreds of business men in Boston and elsewhere are found in their practices for what it has done for them.
It is the true tonic for men afflicted with weakness and nervousness of character.
PHOSPHATINE
immediately benefits young and old children, and that most terrible disease, Rickets, is speedily cured by it. Phosphate is fully described in our pamphlet, which shows that many diseases hitherto considered incurable can be cured in the early stage of the valuable Food Remedy. Special for a copy.
PHOSPHATINE
PREPARED BY
DR. GEORGE L. AUSTIN & CO.,
70 Milk Street, Boston, Mass.
FOR SALE BY John Townsend, P. G.,
Herald St., East Weymouth.
Also at WYMAN'S, and the WEYMOUTH DRUG STORE.

R.V. Merchant

Bugs leave to inform the citizens of Weymouth and vicinity that he is now prepared to make up

Fall & Winter CLOTHING, —IN THE— LATEST STYLES,

And from the best Foreign and Domestic Goods.

GENTLEMEN'S GARMENTS

enables him to warrant a PERFECT FIT
in all cases.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE BY THE WEYMOUTH SAVINGS BANK.

UPWARDS OF 12 ACRES OF LAND 12
AND
6 Dwelling-Houses,
situated in Weymouth and Braintree.
For full particulars inquire of
CHAS. T. CRANE, Treas.

RECITATIONS.

Mrs. W. E. CUSHING
Desires to make arrangements with LECTURE COMMITTEE, LYNN, etc., to give her popular Programmes of Recitations
(Dramatic, Humorous, Didactic and Poetic),
ON MOST FAVORABLE TERMS.

S. R. KELLEY, Professor of Education in the New England Normal School, in a testimonial to Mrs. Cushing, that the programme which she gives is of high order, and rendered with the greatest artistic skill. Her lectures are not only clearly and very interesting, but also of a high order of merit. Mrs. Cushing has appeared, and has been much appreciated.

For full particulars, apply to Mrs. Cushing, at her residence,
Broad Street, East Weymouth.

John C. Haynes & Co., 33 COURT ST., BOSTON.

Musical Boxes in Great Variety.
Brass Band Instruments.
Violas.
American Guitars Warranted.
Imported Guitars.
Banjos from $2.00 upwards.
Violin, Violoncello, Double Bass, Banjo, Zither and Harp Strings and Trimmings Accordeons and Concertinas of all descriptions American and Foreign Sheet Music, Music Books,
&c. Wholesale & Retail.

To LET.
THE DWELLING HOUSE, on the corner of Washington and Bechford Streets, formerly owned by William Merritt, A. G. N.Y.E.
Apply to 94

Literary Reading

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER.

Life is a race where some succeed,
While others are beginning;
'Tis luck at times, at others speed,
That gives us early winning.
But if you chance to fall behind,
Never slacken your endeavor,
O, bear this wholesome truth in mind,
'Tis better late than never.
Never labor for an idle boast
Of victory or other matter;
But while you strive your upmost,
Deal fairly with a brother.
Whatever yearn, do your best,
And hold your purpose ever;
And if you fall to rest the best,
'Tis better late than never.
Choose well the path in which you run—
Succeed by noble daring;
Then, tho' the last, if once 'tis won,
Your crown is worth the wearing.
Then never fret, if left behind,
Nor slacken your endeavor,
But ever keep this truth in mind,
'Tis better late than never.

ORIGINAL TALE.

THE MANDEVILLE PRIDE.

A STORY OF Two Thanksgivings.

BY BELLE RECHWOOD.

CHAPTER I.

The short twilight of a dreadfully gloomy day late in the month of November was deepening into the gloomier darkness of night, as Richard Halliday stood gazing from a window of one of the finest residences in the town of Hereford.

There was no light in the room, but the flickering flame of a sea-coal fire indistinctly displayed that the apartment was elegantly, even luxuriously furnished. And yet with the evidences of wealth and comfort around him, the face of the one occupant of the room was as gloomy as was the scene upon which he gazed.

One gleam of light met his sight in the gathering darkness; but that gleam was little calculated to cheer him or to dispel the clouds which lowered over his life, making the future appear to him more dark and cheerless than the November night.

He was young—not more than twenty-five years of age; finely formed, more than ordinarily good-looking, highly-educated, of irreproachable character, and in every respect deserving of that sometimes doubtful title—a gentleman. He could boast of a long line of ancestors upon the life of no one of whom had there been found a stain; and until within a very short time he had possessed wealth, that other requisite which the world demands before it will confer that title of gentleman.

That last requisite was no longer
his; but it was not on account of the loss of wealth, it was not because he had been called suddenly and wholly unexpectedly to look forward to a life of toil and hardship instead of one of luxury and ease, that his future appeared to him so dark. He had lost, what every true man values, his faith
in woman.

That last requisite was no longer
his; but it was not on account of the loss of wealth, it was not because he had been called suddenly and wholly unexpectedly to look forward to a life
of toil and hardship instead of one
of luxury and ease, that his future appeared to him so dark. He had lost, what every true man values, his faith
in woman.

His mother died when he was so young that he had no recollection of her. His father, who at the time of his story commenced had been dead more than a year, was a man of great energy and enterprise who inherited wealth, and up to the day of his death had appeared never to have met with a reverse. It might almost have been said of him that he made the town of Hereford; for there he established a foundry, which had not only itself been very successful, giving employment to a great number of workmen, but which had attracted a large amount of business in various other branches to the place.

Among other things he was early drawn to the growing town of Hugh Mandeville, a young physician, a school friend of Richard Halliday's father, who, poor himself, had married a girl so poor, and who was only drawn to the work he made himself fairly acquainted with the business so suddenly left in his charge, was becoming somewhat reconciled to the loss of his father. Viola had been very sweetly consoling, and he was beginning to feel almost entirely happy once more, when he received a small slip of paper by mail which puzzled him at the same time it greatly amused him.

Being his father's sole heir, and having control of an abundance of ready money, he had, by the consent of his father's lawyer, paid all demands against the estate as they were presented, and had satisfied himself that beside the interest in the business that had been given to him, there was a very large fortune coming to him. But that slip of paper was a notice from a bank at some distance from Hereford of a note for a heavy amount signed by Mr. Halliday and due in a few days.

Richard immediately sent for his father's lawyer, who was at first inclined to believe the note of which he had received notice was a forgery; but events transpired within the next few days which proved conclusively that the shrewd iron founder, who had made a fortune by his energy and conscientious attention to business, had allowed himself to be drawn into speculations which had ruined him and made him die a bankrupt.

When he could fully comprehend
the truth, Richard understood why those partnership papers were drawn up, and he said to the lawyer:
"Mr. Brian, it is very evident that my father had no right to make over that money to me. It was not his to give."

"Pardon me, Mr. Halliday," replied the lawyer, "but you do not seem to understand this matter. There is no evidence that any money was made over to you. Your father acknowledged the receipt from you of a certain sum. You cannot be called upon to say whether you ever paid it
to him or not; neither are you responsible in any way to account for the money. Your father did mean to protect your interest so far as he could
at the time; but no one except you and me need know that, and I must congratulate you on being so well cared for under the circumstances."

Richard listened patiently till the lawyer paused. He knew that to do what he had at once decided to do would reduce him to penury; but he did not hesitate one moment. "I do understand this matter," he said. "I see my duty clearly and shall do it. If things do not prove much worse than we have so far found them,
I, by sacrificing every thing, can pay every debt my father owed. Will you undertake to assist me or shall I employ some one else? I should prefer to have you, as you are familiar with the details, and you and I can settle up the affairs without letting any one but ourselves know there was the slightest irregularity."

"Certainly I will aid you in any way
I can; but allow me one word. I think you are absolutely sensitive,
and that the fact that those papers
were drawn up so recently may cause
some remark; but everything was done strictly legally, and there is not one of your father's creditors but would have secured himself by very much more unfair means than he used to protect your interests."

"Enough. I have but one rule to guide me, and that is to do what I believe to be right. You know what there is to be done; please attend to it as soon as possible. I do not doubt that you desire to advise me aright,
but I must be the judge of my duty
to myself and others."

In thus deciding to give up everything to save the honor of his father's name, and to do what he knew to be right, Richard Halliday had not stopped to think what Viola Mandeville would say of what he had decided to do; but when he did remember how much interested she was in him
and in his fortune, he did not doubt that she would heartily agree with him that he had done as he should.

He was not in the least prepared to be told that he had no right to throw away a fortune and expect her, who had been reared in luxury, and who could have married any one of half-dozen men wealthier than he would have been with all of his father's money, to either share his poverty or wait until he could earn enough to support her. And yet that is what she told him when she heard what he had learned in regard to his father's affairs, and what he had decided to do.

Had Richard consulted her as to what he should do; had he stated to her his decision, she would have abided
by her decision, she would have told him to do exactly as he had done;
for Viola Mandeville possessed as keen a sense of honor as did Richard Halliday. But he had decided to reduce himself to poverty without consulting her, and had then gone to her expecting she would accept what he had done; and her pride was touched.

In vain did Richard plead with her;
in vain did he own that he should have offered to release her, at least,
before he decided to do as he had;
in vain did he tell her that he could claim comfort and soon support her in comfort. She would not listen to him, and they parted. And on that gloomy November evening, the evening of Thanksgiving Day, when in thousands of homes there was feasting and merry-making, Richard Halliday stood at the window of the house that had been his home, from which he could see the lights of that other home where ever since he was a boy he had been gladly welcomed, and he thought bitterly:

"And this because I am poor!
But, thank God, I know I have done right!"

When he could fully comprehend
the truth, Richard understood why
those partnership papers were drawn
up, and he said to the lawyer:
"Mr. Brian, it is very evident that
my father had no right to make over that money to me. It was not his to give."

"Pardon me, Mr. Halliday," replied the lawyer, "but you do not seem to understand this matter. There is no evidence that any money was made over to you. Your father acknowledged the receipt from you of a certain sum. You cannot be called upon to say whether you ever paid it
to him or not; neither are you responsible in any way to account for the money. Your father did mean to protect your interest so far as he could
at the time; but no one except you
and me need know that, and I must
congratulate you on being so well
cared for under the circumstances."

Richard listened patiently till the lawyer paused. He knew that to do what he had at once decided to do would reduce him to penury; but he did not hesitate one moment. "I
do understand this matter," he said. "I see my duty clearly and shall
do it. If things do not prove much worse than we have so far found them,
I, by sacrificing every thing, can pay
every debt my father owed. Will you undertake to assist me or shall I employ some one else? I should prefer to have you, as you are familiar with the details, and you and I can settle
up the affairs without letting any one but ourselves know there was the
slightest irregularity."

"Certainly I will aid you in any way
I can; but allow me one word. I think you are absolutely sensitive,
and that the fact that those papers
were drawn up so recently may cause
some remark; but everything was done strictly legally, and there is not one of your father's creditors but would have secured himself by very much more unfair means than he used
to protect your interests."

"Enough. I have but one rule to guide me, and that is to do what I believe to be right. You know what
there is to be done; please attend to it as soon as possible. I do not doubt
that you desire to advise me aright,
but I must be the judge of my duty
to myself and others."

In thus deciding to give up everything to save the honor of his father's name, and to do what he knew to be right, Richard Halliday had not stopped to think what Viola Mandeville would say of what he had decided to do; but when he did remember
how much interested she was in him
and in his fortune, he did not doubt
that she would heartily agree with him that he had done as he should.

He was not in the least prepared to
be told that he had no right to throw away a fortune and expect her, who had been reared in luxury, and who could have married any one of half-dozen men wealthier than he would have been with all of his father's money, to either share his poverty or wait until he could earn enough to support her. And yet that is what she told him when she heard what he had learned in regard to his father's affairs, and what he had decided to do.

Had Richard consulted her as to what he should do; had he stated to
her his decision, she would have abided
by her decision, she would have told
him to do exactly as he had done;
for Viola Mandeville possessed as keen a sense of honor as did Richard Halliday. But he had decided to reduce himself to poverty without consulting her, and had then gone to her expecting she would accept what he had done; and her pride was touched.

In vain did Richard plead with her;
in vain did he own that he should have offered to release her, at least,

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

After the Battle.

Some lessons of the election.—How those who take up the arms and the sword to perish by it.—The "Grand" cry.—Some reminiscences of the eventful winter of seventy-six and seven.—Tilden's loss.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15th.

The smoke of the elections having fairly cleared away, discloses the battle-field with an unusual number of wounded, showing that the fight has been a hot one and the victory complete. Of course the sole topic of conversation at the political capital is the exchange of experiences during the campaign and the lessons attending the result. These are not hard to find by the way.

The one thing above all others dispelled by the result of the late elections, is the idea that the people admit for one moment that the democratic shibboleth that has been dimmed into ours since the winter of 1876.

It has any power with the masses. "Foulness" may cry "fraud! fraud!" until they are hoarse with the effort, but the fact that no notice is taken of this threadbare argument of the defeated, is reasonably fair evidence that either the argument is based upon delusion, or that the aforesaid masses are entirely satisfied with things as they are.

The prominent personages who raised the cry of "fraud" during the winter following the elections of November, 1876, and who have continued the cry, present indubitable proof of the fallacy of this reasoning. They are, for instance, Mr. Tilden himself, Mr. Thurman, Mr. Potter, who headed the famous "Fraud Committee," Speaker Randall, Senator Eaton, of Connecticut, Kernan, Randolph and Wallace. What has become of them?

Well, Mr. Tilden, who claimed to have carried the country by a popular majority of some three hundred thousand, finds himself unable to carry his own State, and is fairly and remorselessly laid upon the shelf. Mr. Thurman, his leading opponent for the nomination, is not only ruled out of the race, but loses his own seat in the Senate. Mr. Potter, upon whom was consolidated the united democratic vote of New York, is defeated by a square majority. Mr. Randolph, by the restricting of his state, a plan inaugurated a few years ago by Mr. Randall, finds himself a citizen of a new district overwhelmingly republican, and without the ghost of a chance for a reelection. Eaton, Kernan, Randolph and Wallace are disposed of in one, two, three, four, five, by republican legislatures who relegate them to the shades of political oblivion.

Now let us see what has become of the lesser lights of the so-called fraud conspiracy of the winter of 1876. I recall an hour of the never to be forgotten night of the second of March, 1877, when the reporters gallery of the House I looked down upon a boiling, seething mass of disappointed conspirators, who were prepared to plunge the country into civil war rather than accept the decision of a court of their own creation. I recall the faces of Poppleton of Ohio, Beebe of New York, O'Brien of Maryland, Harrison of Illinois, Holman and Hamilton of Indiana, Jones of New Hampshire, Stenger of Pennsylvania, Beverly Douglas of Virginia, and Blackburn of Kentucky. Who has ever heard of them since? With the exception of Douglas, who died a year later in a fit of delirium tremens, and Blackburn, whose futile mouthings are a sore reminder of an hour of political delirium, they are gone and forgotten, with not even a suspicion of grass to keep their memory green.

The Chairman of the National Executive Committee, who with voice and the famous "barrel of money," backed by a seat in the Senate and a legislature at home with a democratic majority of more than sixty, howled early and late for "Tilden or blood!" where, oh where is he? His seat in the Senate is filled by a "stalwart," and a republican majority of ninety-two is returned for the Connecticut legislature. Pelton, Cronin, Goughan, Watterson, Anderson—gone, disappeared, leaving nothing behind them but the laments of confiding hotel-keepers and credulous washerwomen.

And speaking of Pelton and Co., what a huge combination of the melodramatic and the broad-roaming farce it was altogether! How they bullied senators and judges, and dined and wineed generals and lawyers and doctors, and drove up and down the avenues with four-in-hands, and crowded receptions and theatres, and patronized the fine arts and tossed the lobby, and worried the press, and ate the malt that lay in the house that Sam Tilden built. Pelton had a suit of parlor at the Arlington," fitted up without regard to expense and attended by a court of ebony lackeys, gorgeous in swallow-tail and expensive shirt fronts, led by a major domo grand and overpowering. To reach the presence one had to overcome as many formalities and submit to as many delays as surround the sacred presence of royalty itself; and when through gracious indulgence one succeeded in gazing upon the majestic front of the nephew of his uncle, the effect was sufficiently dazzling to be wider and confound the audacious reporter and make him regret he had ever been born. Pelton had secretaries and stenographers, personal attendants without number, and a special courier, whose duty it was to travel constantly between New York and Washington, with the messages from Tilden to Pelton, the shy old claimant declining to trust himself to the wires in even cipher dispatch.—Between Tilden and Pelton it was a still-hunt to an absurdity. Tilden was all caution and humility; Pelton all recklessness and grandeur. And surrounding the latter was the most precious set of knaves and mountebank strikers and bouncers and scoundrels and spies outside the penitentiaries. It was the hugest crowd of political bunnies and swaggers that ever entered Washington, and to Pelton and his court, perhaps as much as anything else may be laid the causes which brought about the Electoral Commission.

As well, it is all over at last, but it was a jolly old carousal while it lasted. Pelton, I understand, has been as unfortunate with certain financial interests, entrusted to his care by his confiding "nephew," as with the great case itself, and is at present existing under a cloud. The army of bunnies and loafers that made up the Tilden headquarters at the Arlington have doubtless returned to the shades of Auburn and Sing-Sing, and the secretaries and stenographers and special couriers and major domos have been shrewd enough to swing around with the wind and accompany the bosom of the successful party, while in a lonely chamber in Gramercy Park a little old man crouches among his idols, and gazing upon the embers of the Literary Bureau, among which appear the charred remains of telegrams and returns from disputed precincts, murmurs to himself:

"Farwell, a long farewell to all my fallen greatness! This is the end of me. Cornell forty thousand plurality! who would have believed it?—Today he puts forth the tender buds of hope—Lucius Robinson—tomorrow blossoms. The third day comes a frost—John Kelley—a chilling frost, Tammany Hall—and when he thinks, good easy man, full surely his genius is ripening, nips his root by seventy thousand good square votes, and then he falls, as I do!" Potter and the whole State "chick" gone! Woe is me! I have ventured, like little woman boys that swim on bladders, this many summers in a sea of glory; but far beyond my depth. My high-down pride at length breaks under me, and now has left me, weary and old with service, to the prey of a rude stream—Salt river—that must forever hie me.

CARL.

TOWN AND VICINITY.

THE WATER QUESTION.

Weymouth Great Pond is about 150 feet above the level of high water mark at the sea, and its area is 507 acres, the depth of water averaging, probably, from 15 to 20 feet. The water is remarkably pure, having its source in free flowing springs, without the contamination of sewage, and is long and broad, with extensive drainage from swamps or ponds infested streams, and in no other town in this section has nature furnished so ample and healthful supplies of water for the use of the community. But while our neighbor town of Hingham, through the enterprise of its leading citizens, and with a comparatively little water resource, will be long provided with this improvement, Weymouth, particularly the northern section of the town, is still dependent upon wells and cisterns, which in a time of drought are indeed "wells without water" in many instances. The rocky character of our high grounds is an impediment in the sinking of wells which will add to the inconvenience, in many cases the work of blasting requiring an outlay of money which some householders can ill afford, and compels them to depend on the public wells for daily supplies of water. Thus it will be seen that the public good requires the construction of water-works, and it is evident that no better supply can be found than the waters of Great Pond, its area giving promise of abundance, with a head of water, which would rise above the dwellings on our most elevated situations, affording not only a supply for household purposes, but also a valuable auxiliary to our present means of protection against the ravages of fire.

Being the town of Hingham in rejecting every attempt to obtain the water from Accord Pond by public grant of money for the purpose, is an index to the result of attempts of like character in this town. The south part of Weymouth would not share so largely in the benefit, owing to insufficient head of water, but the erection of pumping works, at an expense which would doubtless be a decided obstacle to any effort made to obtain an expression of popular will in favor of the town assuming the expense of procuring a water supply; and as the benefit to be derived cannot be equally distributed through the town by a main, the improvement, if it is ever effected, must be carried out by private enterprise and capital.

We are pleased to learn that some of our leading citizens are seriously considering this question, particularly those who have large investments in buildings, as their property, with the present liability of short supply of water in seasons of drought, is much endangered. In case of fire, while tenants also need more adequate supplies of pure water for domestic purposes, to which may be added the need of the public for water of a better quality than is found in many of the shallow wells in town, which are filled in many cases with surface water, and liable to be polluted by percolation from various sources of impurity. We have previously called attention to this subject, but though all acquiesced in the importance of the work, no one has yet stepped forward to take the matter in hand and concert measures looking to the introduction of a supply of water from the source mentioned above. To make it a success the movement must emanate from men of capital, and as we have a good number of this class in town, it is believed that if some energetic, live resident will inaugurate a plan to secure the water, he will find a plenty of backers.

It is estimated that the cost of laying a main from the Pond to Weymouth Landing would not exceed $100,000, which divided into small shares of stock, would in part be taken by residents of limited means, and if, as has been the case in Hingham, the contractors for the work should take a liberal portion of the stock, the burden would be comparatively light. It is hoped that the agitation of this question will not end with mere talking about it and hoping for it, but that some of our public spirited citizens will bring the matter to an immediate issue by presenting a plan for the enterprise, and then pushing it to a successful issue.

"Beautiful snow" fell all day yesterday, and rubber boots were in demand to go through the slush dry shod.

Discontinued.

The social assemblies that have been given at Clapp's Hall are, for want of patronage, discontinued.

Accident.

Mr. E. Lowery, in turning his horse too short in front of A. N. Hunt's boat factory last Monday afternoon, caused him to start quickly, thereby breaking the spring. Mr. Willie Smith was thrown, and in turning the corner of Post street, Mr. Lowery was also thrown to the ground, both of them being but slightly injured. The horse ran a short distance and was turned by some one into the yard of Mr. Cook and stopped. The buggy was but slightly damaged.

Rehearsal.

The third rehearsal was given last Sunday evening by the Weymouth Singing Society, at Clapp's Hall, with a larger chorus than usual, every street and chair being occupied. The spring portion of the "Seasons" was performed, and that with the "Walpurgis Night," will be rehearsed next Sunday evening, commencing at 7 o'clock precisely, and drivers of carriages from other parts of the town are so notified. It has been suggested that with such talent as Mrs. Worster, Cushing, Burrell and Miss Sprague, also many others, that the "Messiah" and the "Creation" may be occasionally given during the winter. Mr. Hooper, a stranger to most of the society, sang in fine style, the air, "With joy the impatient husbandman."

Reading.

Mrs. W. E. Cushing, the popular reciter of East Weymouth, will read some of her choicest selections at Melrose, on Tuesday next, Nov. 26th. Mrs. Cushing is classed with the best of readers, and people of Melrose may expect something more than that of an ordinary character.

Business.

The boot and shoe business is rather quiet at the present time, but the builders and carpenters have plenty of work, as more new buildings are now commenced than there has been at any one time for many years. F. H. H.

We noticed in your last issue that the I. O. G. T. organization, contemplate the surrender of their charter, their number now being so small. Only a few years ago there was in this place the Sons of Temperance, together with the Lodge of G. O. Temples, having a very large number of members, each holding weekly meetings, with full attendance, and often at the meetings many could not gain admittance, the hall being filled to overflowing, while numerous speakers were ever ready to say a word for the cause of temperance. There was very little intoxicating liquor then sold, compared with the present time. Now, how changed the scene. The change could not have been from the lack of funds to carry on the good work. When the Sons of Temperance disbanded only five or six members were left to divide the $200 in treasury. At the present time there is more liquor sold in this place than ever before, and why is it? Almost every one must think it is because it can be obtained so easy, as expressed almost every day bring liquor in quantities. When I say that, I call larger beer as much intoxicating as new rum or whiskey. I think that the saying is true, that as long as people can obtain it so easily they will drink it. Now if a temperance man starts an express here, he soon would have to give it up for want of patronage. Why? because there are not enough who would support him in carrying out such an enterprise.

A READER.

"A splendid Winter Corset made with extra heavy and long bones. Best value for $1.00 ever shown in Weymouth at RANS'S."

20th Anniversary.

A numerous company of relatives and friends assembled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Richards, Broad St., last Monday evening, to commemorate the twentieth anniversary of their wedding, the occasion being termed a "dinner wedding," and the large variety of dishes consumed with such an event, among them being an elegant diamond table cloth, with doilies to match, presented by the young ladies of Mrs. Richards' Sabbath School class. The evening was pleasantly passed in a social manner, no formal exercises being arranged for the occasion, but several of the young ladies presented favored the company with acceptable vocal and instrumental music, and the host and hostess furnished their guests with a tempting collation.

Gentlemen, please bear in mind that you can find at RANS'S the largest line and best styles Hats, Caps, etc.

Wedding Notes.

A Washington paper furnishes particulars of the marriage of Mr. John W. Gunning, son of Capt. A. J. Gunning, formerly of Weymouth and now connected with the Treasury Department, the ceremony taking place in that city on Thursday evening, the 6th instant, at the North Carolina Avenue Mission, the bride being Miss A. Lulu Swan, daughter of Benjamin Swan, Esq., of Maine. The bride, says the Herald, is one of the belles of East Washington, and looked bewitchingly lovely in a dress of white tulle, court train and no veil, with white satin waist tastefully trimmed with lace, white silk ribbon and artificial flowers. Around her brow was caught a large bridal veil of white tulle, which covered and fell in graceful folds about her comely figure. Encircling her head and extending to the left shoulder were the elaborate orange blossoms, or feather flowers, resembling a spray of most delicate wax flowers—a beautiful gift from a friend in Rio de Janeiro. At the conclusion of the marriage ceremony a gay and happy throng assembled at the residence of the bride's parents, where the happy couple received the congratulations of a large circle of friends, and were the recipients of a varied and magnificent display of presents. The supper table was spread with delicacies of the most tempting variety, and the occasion was, as a whole, one of a most happy character.

Musical.

We understand that Mr. Kate C. Wheeler is arranging, with talent and care, to have another concert about the first of next month. There is no town in the country where the people will turn out to a really first class entertainment better than Weymouth, and there is no one who better understands giving just that kind of an entertainment than Mr. Wheeler. So be ready for future announcements.

A Black Cashmere for 70 cents per yard that can't be beat. Fresh lot of Bed Comforters and Blankets, good ones. New line Black Fringes at RANS'S.

South Weymouth.

What the boys called "Big Bridge," on Columbia St., has been demolished, and an entirely new one built in its place, a foot higher, for the better convenience of freightmen. We liked that bridge in days of yore—to whistle on.

Mr. Alfred Tirrell, wife, and nephew, have gone to Boston for the winter. They sojourn at the St. James.

Mr. George Bowker, who resides on Central St., has a well 34 feet deep, as dry as an ash-barrel. The rain descended on Friday night.

The M. L. A. held a very interesting meeting Friday night. Some of the members had a very exciting debate on matters incident to the meeting. The proposal to offer the library to the town was not carried. The ballot for librarian for the ensuing year stood 26 for Mr. Alfred Wright, the former librarian, and 4 for Mr. L. A. Cooke. It is not fully decided yet where to have the rooms.

Mr. Fred Hastings has gone to Cleveland, O., for a season. Good luck to him.

By special request of the deceased, the Glee Club of South Weymouth turned out in full numbers to attend the funeral of Mrs. Mary Kenison, and in accordance with her last wish, sung at the services.

Reuben Lund & Sons have moved their box mill on to a new site higher up, and nearer the road, and have excavated a new channel for their power, at a considerable trouble and expense. The new mill will be much improved, and have every facility for doing a large business.

By the time the surveyor has finished grading the old Randolph St., people will get the notion of revolting that way all, preferring the new. On this street Messrs. Fort, Bullock, and Chas. Clapp, are preparing to build dwelling houses.

Funeral.

The funeral service over the remains of Mr. Samuel B. Thaxter, (whose second wife was a Miss Hunt, a native of Weymouth), took place last Monday afternoon, his demise occurring on the 12th inst. Notwithstanding Masonic services were dispensed with, large numbers of the fraternity were present from the neighboring towns. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Knapp, of Plymouth, his remarks being very impressive. The funeral was very large, and the floral offerings very profuse and beautifully arranged. But few men possessed so wide a circle of friends as Mr. Thaxter, and his prominent position in the Masonic order endeared him to many brethren throughout the District. He will be greatly missed in the village in which he resided, as well as by the fraternity. Mr. Thaxter had his life insured for a very large amount, which he made over to his daughter a few days before his death, she being an only child about 14 years of age.

Death.

Mrs. B. Komer, the eldest daughter of Rev. Elmer Hewitt, died last Monday morning, after a long and painful illness. But few invalids manifest the courage which she sustained her during her illness, and she maintained until a few days before her death. She has been an active lady in society, and was one of our best singers, always being ready to contribute her services wherever they have been needed. The funeral services were held in the chapel on Wednesday afternoon, the house being full. The floral tributes were most numerous, showing that she had many friends who desired to manifest their regard in this tribute of respect for the deceased. Mrs. Komer will be greatly missed in society. She leaves a husband and daughter of about 5 years of age, who have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

The Race.

About 800 people assembled on the Park to witness the 150 yards run by the two champions, Murphy and Garrity. The day was fine and the track in good condition. A line was drawn in the center of the track, each runner having his course marked. The start was given by a pistol shot, and they started amidst the wildest excitement and cries of "Go it, Murphy! Go it, Garrity!" Murphy won.

A good walk.

Mrs. Martha Vining writes from San Francisco that she followed the Grant procession four miles, proving that she is in very good condition of health.

The residents of this place put off their sickness for a few days to accommodate Dr. C. C. Tower, who with his better half has made a trip down east. He reports finding Mrs. Martha Tucker, formerly of this place, very ill.

The Humane Society should award the Temperance Union of this place a medal for filling up the wells a little. Smallest favors thankfully received.

The friends of Mr. L. Tuck are glad to learn that he is recovering from his severe illness.

Burned to Death.

The town of Abington was thrown into excitement yesterday morning by the news that widow Sam'l B. Thaxter, a daughter of C. Jonathan Hunt, of this respect had been burned to death. Mrs. Thaxter arose about 5:20 A. M., and at 7 a bright light was seen in the kitchen by Mr. Ed. Dunham, who notified Mrs. Smith and Jack, living near by. They went to the house, and with Mrs. Hunt, who was just coming down stairs, went into the kitchen, where they discovered the deceased, who had been burned to death. She had been sitting at the table for a number of years, and had been suffering from a severe case of rheumatism. Her husband died one week previous.

The Mount Hope Cemetery Fair realized about fifty dollars, which was sufficient to remove the debt remaining upon the receiving tomb erected by the ladies.

The ladies of the 21 Cong. Soc. will hold a fair, commencing Dec. 21, lasting two days and evenings.

Rev. Mr. Hall, of Weymouth, exchanged with Rev. F. P. Stanton last Sabbath, and gave two most excellent sermons.

Temperance.

Rev. H. P. Haylett, of Lovell's Corner, will deliver a lecture under the auspices of the Reform Club, in behalf of this cause, on Friday evening, Nov. 28. It is hoped that all interested will bear this notice in mind and give the cause the influence of their presence.

Autumnal Concert.

The annual concert which was to have taken place a month previous, was given last Sunday evening by members of the Universalist Sunday School, in their vestry, the exercises being appropriate to the season. A fine solo was sung by Miss Nellie Pratt. The concert was under the direction of the Sup't. Mr. J. M. Whitcomb.

We learn that the W. C. T. U. of this village contemplate a removal of their headquarters from C. S. Williams' hall, to Lincoln Hall, and will occupy the large or small room, as occasion requires.

East Weymouth.

Lecture Course.

The public interest has surely not lessened in the lectures that have been weekly held in the Cong'l church for the last few months, judging from the full attendance last Wednesday evening, to listen to the ninth lecture of the course. After the audience had been "disfranchised" on the organ by Mr. W. F. Barrell, Rev. Mr. Eldridge introduced as the speaker of the evening, Rev. Mr. Haylett, who took for his subject "Utah and the Mormons." The speaker began by saying that there was no such place as America for the purpose of growing a nation, if there is anything in these religions it will show itself. Therefore it is not strange that this fresh should live and flourish in our country. After alluding to the journey to Utah the lecturer described Salt Lake, as a sheet of water about 90 miles long, and 60 miles wide, and from 10 to 40 feet deep. It is a place where the bottom has not been found, which is probably an inlet to the sea a little south, and joined to it by the Jordan river, is Utah Lake, the waters of which are fresh. Salt Lake city lies close to the foot of Wasatch Mountains, from which the water which supplies the city. The Mormons came to Salt Lake, having been driven from Ohio, Missouri and Illinois, July 12, 1848, and from that time their growth has been very rapid. The speaker spoke of the institution of marriage, and the close scrutiny that the people are subject to by the Mormon hierarchy. He said that it was estimated that about 4000 missionaries were scattered throughout the land, and the converts to their faith are obtained mainly by the meanness and strategy that characterizes the Mormon leaders. The tabernacle, 365 ft. by 150 ft. ft. was described, and incidents told of the injustice done to the poor people by their superior. To-day the Mormons are not weaker than they have been, and they have lost none of their power by the death of Brigham Young. More have been sealed in the endowment house during the last three years than in any five years previous. But there are influences at work against them. A few years ago there were nine Gentile institutions and in the Mormon schools the education consisted mainly of the religion. Now there are several churches and schools of Gentile denominations and two newspapers which will help to educate the great mass; but until the civil law protects the Gentile school teacher against Mormon persecution.

The next lecture in the course will be given by Rev. G. N. Marden, of South Weymouth, upon the "Arabs."

Social.

The Catholic Total Abstinence Society will hold a social in their hall, next Monday evening. Delegations from the Catholic Temperance organizations of Rockland, Weymouth, Quincy, and West Quincy, are expected to be present. A large attendance is anticipated.

At the dedication of the new Catholic Church which takes place next Sunday, a solemn high mass will be celebrated. Right Rev. Bishop Lynch, of Charleston, South Carolina, will deliver the panegyric of the blessed virgin.

Whitman's Pond has been materially raised about two inches by the recent rains. Some of the best of the Weymouth Iron Co.'s works have been stopped for some time past in consequence of the scarcity of water.

A very brilliant wedding occurred in South Hingham last evening, the occasion being the celebration of the matrimonial rites between Mr. John A. Connell of this village, and Miss Katie E. Valentine of Hingham. The happy couple were the recipients of several valuable and superb wedding presents, which were a substantial proof of esteem in which the worthy couple are held. The nuptial ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Colburn, of Hingham.

Mary, only daughter of Mr. Sinclair Sprague, is sick with suppressed scarletina. She was taken very suddenly last Tuesday, and under the care of Dr. Beck she is improving.

Mr. Isaiah Hayward, in the employ of Mr. John Carroll, sprained his ankle while going to the shop so that he has been unable to leave the house.

The sewing circle connected with the Cong'l church met at the residence of Mrs. John P. Lovell yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Henry Key has gone to Mecklenburg, Pa., to join her husband who is at work in the tube works.

Mr. Z. L. Ricknell is spending the week at the Vineyard.

The Semi-Annual Session of the Grand Temple of Honor of Massachusetts was held, by invitation, with Mechanics Temple, at their hall yesterday. The exercises commenced at 10:30 o'clock in the forenoon, about 60 members being present from different parts of the State. G. W. T. Geo. W. Whitaker, editor of the Temple Star, presiding. The forenoon was spent in business relating to the order, and at 12:30 a collation was served by the members and friends of Mechanics Temple. The company reassembled at 1:30 P. M. and after attending to unfinished work and considering appeals and decisions from various temples, interesting remarks were made relating to a change in the degree system. Now the degrees are under the Grand Council of Massachusetts, and temples located at a distance from any subordinate council are put to unnecessary expense in obtaining the degrees. The speakers considered it best to allow the first three degrees to be worked by the temples, in localities where it was necessary, and the sense of the Grand Temple was that a law ought to be passed permitting this change. Some time was also spent in considering the endowment plan of the order. The session closed at 6 o'clock. About 15 members stayed to attend the public meeting in the evening, though, though the weather was unpropitious, was well attended. G. W. T. Whitaker presiding. After an address by brother Whitaker, upon the fraternity of the order, remarks were made by Deputy Most Worthily Templar Blanchard, of the Supreme Council of the United States, and the Chapel Quartette having rendered some fine music, were followed by speaking by P. G. W. T. Charles Q. Tirrell, of Nahant, and G. W. T. Follett, of the Granite Temple, Quincy. Mr. Frank P. Riley, of Malden, favored the audience with a finely executed solo, and P. G. W. T. Eugene B. Clapp and P. G. W. T. Walter Babl, of Melrose, spoke words complimentary to the order. Mr. Riley sang another solo, and P. G. W. T. Horace M. Ford, of Boston, followed with remarks. The meeting closed at 8:30 o'clock, with singing by the Chapel Quartette. The visiting brothers were conveyed to Braintree, by Mr. Geo. W. Young, in season to take the 10:30 train for Boston.

OYSTERS.

GOOD NOW!

Try the LARGE

Providence River OYSTERS.

N. B. All our Oysters are

Fresh from the Shell,

and Warranted as good as the best, or no sale.

C. W. Stevens.

Orders may be left at the Grocery Store of F. M. DROWN, Weymouth Landing.

New Advertisements.

NOW

IS THE TIME TO BUY AN AMERICAN WATCH

AT THE—

LOWEST PRICE!!

LARGE STOCK

TO SELECT FROM

—AT—

Edward H. Frary's,

Post Office Building, WEYMOUTH.

Particular attention given to Repairing American Watches.

John H. Pray

SONS & CO.,

WHOLESALE

—AND—

RETAIL

Carpetings

MOQUETTES,

AXMINSTERS.

WILTONS,

BRUSSELS,

TAPESTRIES,

INGRAINS,

MATTINGS,

OIL CLOTHS.

Our Assortment is the Largest to be found in New England, and our Prices will be found to compare favorably with and New York or Boston quotations.

JOHN H. PRAY

SONS & CO.,

558 and 560 Washington St.

BOSTON.

OYSTERS.

GOOD NOW!

Try the LARGE

Providence River OYSTERS.

N. B. All our Oysters are

Fresh from the Shell,

and Warranted as good as the best, or no sale.

C. W. Stevens.

Orders may be left at the Grocery Store of F. M. DROWN, Weymouth Landing.

New Advertisements.

NOW

IS THE TIME TO BUY AN AMERICAN WATCH

AT THE—

LOWEST PRICE!!

GOODS!
ur very large stock of Canned d with great care, and are the ad.
of the leading kinds:
3 lb. cans, 20 cts.
3 " " 10 "
3 " " 13 "
2 " " 12 "

& CO., MOUTH LANDING.
ALKER,
CORNER.
FLOUR,
Dry Goods,
SPOICES, &c. &c., affords, and as cheap as

HAN EVER.
ange for $20.00.
East Weymouth,
PUMPS, LEAD PIPE, DRAIN PIPE.
First-Class Plumbing Shop, to the Highest Quality of Work.
S. PAROLE and LINCOLN AND WELL-DONE,
R STOVES.
ing and Jobbing. ATTENDED TO MARKET.
Proprietor.

PRODUCE
T QUALITY, Delivered
ERY DAY.
Pure Coffee, ground fresh, 33 cts. per lb.
Mocha and Java, 3 lbs. for $1.00.
16, 18 and 20 Cts. Gallon.

KTON
ble Works.
Lowest Prices!
ment, $400, worth $500
125, " 200
100, " 150 90, " 125
poundingly low prices.
from $10 upwards
FRED HANSON

WDITCH, CK STORE, ON SQUARE,
ods and Groceries,
URE, &c., as LOW as the LOWEST.
tly Free of Charge and Satisfied Guaranteed.

ISMOT
TIN
Hammond St., merchandise
FRANK SMITH

THE SOCIAL CIRCLE
First Universalist Society, of Weymouth, will give a COFFEE PARTY
in LINCOLN HALL,
FRIDAY EVENING, Nov. 21,
when there will be an exhibition of Mrs. JARLEY'S Famous Collection of WAX WORKS.
These figures have been gathered at great expense from all quarters of the globe, and will be of great interest to all who are desirous of the present opportunity.
Admission will be given in person.

NORTH WEYMOUTH.
Silver Wedding.
The 25th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Talbot was appropriately observed by their friends on Tuesday evening week. Members of the Knights of Honor and Odd Fellows fraternities, (of which Mr. Talbot is an honored and prominent member) of Ne-ponset, with their wives, and the number of 90, assembled at his residence at We-mouth Neck, at about nine o'clock Tuesday evening. The affair was a complete surprise to "mine host," who had not an inkling of it until the jolly company burst in upon him, carrying the place by storm, and holding the fort until a late hour, passing the time in discussing a tempting supper, which was prepared at the residence of Mr. B. W. Bowen, near by, without the knowledge of Mr. Talbot) and tripping the light fantastic toe to the music of a violin, which the merciful breeze brought with them. To make the affair complete and up to its character, a large number of valuable and elegant presents in silver were left by the visitors—a substantial token of the high esteem they feel for their old neighbor and friend, Mr. Talbot, having fortunately resided in Neponset, until he received the position of chief engineer of Bradley's Superphosphate Works, which he still holds. At a late hour the company left for their homes, feeling the truthfulness of the old adage, "It is more blissful to give than to receive."

LOVELL'S CORNER.
Change.
The boot and shoe firm in this place hitherto known as A. Holbrook & Co. is now no more. Alanson A. Holbrook, of the original firm, is about to branch out alone on fine work, and to this end carpenters are busy remodeling and arranging the interior in the new sections of the shop, where Mr. H. is to begin operations at once.

Mortgagee's Sale
OF
REAL ESTATE in Weymouth.
BY virtue and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage Deed given by William French to George D. Torrey, dated March 1st, A.D. 1876, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, Book 47, Fol. 32, and in force of said Mortgage Deed,
I, the undersigned, do hereby give notice that I will sell at public auction, for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be held at Public Auction, on the premises on MONDAY, the 8th day of December, A.D. 1878, at three o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said Mortgage Deed, to wit:—A certain lot of one situated in the Town of Weymouth and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, containing about one-half acre, more or less, with a dwelling house and outbuildings thereon standing, with the exception of a Boat and Shoe Manufactory Shop belonging to the wife of Charles Hall, of Weymouth, occupied at date of said mortgage by William R. French of Weymouth. The above named land is bounded on the North by North St.; on the South by land of James Torrey and Jonathan Reed; on the East by said William French; and on the West by said William French and James Torrey. Terms made known at time and place of sale.
JAMES TORREY, Mortgagee.
Weymouth, Nov. 19, 1878. 29-31

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
NORFOLK.
To the heirs-at-law, Next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the Estate of SILAS CANNING, deceased.
Greeting:
Whereas a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, and the same has been read and the same has been found to be the last will and testament of said deceased, and you are hereby notified to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the second Wednesday of December
next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same, and said petition is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing the same, and work for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Weymouth Gazette, printed in Weymouth, the last publication to be two days
at least, before said Court.
Witness, George White, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twentieth day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight.
JONATHAN CORB, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
NORFOLK.
To the heirs-at-law, Next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the Estate of THOMAS TALBOT, deceased.
Greeting:
Whereas a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, and the same has been read and the same has been found to be the last will and testament of said deceased, and
you are hereby notified to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the second Wednesday of December
next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same, and
said petition is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing the same, and work for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Weymouth Gazette, printed in Weymouth, the last publication to be two days
at least, before said Court.
Witness, George White, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twentieth day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-
eight.
JONATHAN CORB, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
NORFOLK.
To the heirs-at-law, Next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the Estate of THOMAS TALBOT, deceased.
Greeting:
Whereas a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, and the same has been read and the same has been found to be the last will and testament of said deceased, and
you are hereby notified to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the second Wednesday of December
next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same, and
said petition is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing the same, and work for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Weymouth Gazette, printed in Weymouth, the last publication to be two days
at least, before said Court.
Witness, George White, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twentieth day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-
eight.
JONATHAN CORB, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
NORFOLK.
To the heirs-at-law, Next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the Estate of THOMAS TALBOT, deceased.
Greeting:
Whereas a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, and the same has been read and the same has been found to be the last will and testament of said deceased, and
you are hereby notified to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the second Wednesday of December
next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same, and
said petition is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing the same, and work for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Weymouth Gazette, printed in Weymouth, the last publication to be two days
at least, before said Court.
Witness, George White, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twentieth day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-
eight.
JONATHAN CORB, Register.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
NORFOLK.
To the heirs-at-law, Next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the Estate of THOMAS TALBOT, deceased.
Greeting:
Whereas a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, and the same has been read and the same has been found to be the last will and testament of said deceased, and
you are hereby notified to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the second Wednesday of December
next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same, and
said petition is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing the same, and work for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Weymouth Gazette, printed in Weymouth, the last publication to be two days
at least, before said Court.
Witness, George White, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twentieth day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-
eight.
JONATHAN CORB, Register.

1880. BOSTON.
Weekly Journal,
THE FAVORITE NEW EN-GLAND NEWSPAPER.
All the News of the Day, and a large amount of Entertaining and Instructive
Reading.
For Less than Three Cents a Week.
A NEW VOLUME BEGINS WITH THE NEW YEAR.
Now in the hands of the Publishers.
NO PREMIUMS.
NO CHARGES.
But Liberal Reductions to Clubs, and Cash Com-pansions to Agents.
TERMS FOR 1880.
Subscription Price only $1.50 per Annum. To Clubs, $1.20.

Graves' Patent Lounge Bed.
The WEEKLY JOURNAL for 1880 will retain the GENERAL FEATURES of the past, and the editing which has made it so popular throughout New England for more than forty years. These are:
The NEWS of the Week, carefully analyzed and classified, and brought down to within an hour of the publication.
NEW ENGLAND INTELLIGENCE, gathered throughout the State, and sent to the readers of the Journal, and through the Agency of the Associated Press, and giving fresh and full news of all the important events of the day.
MARKET REPORTS, prepared for its columns,
and giving fresh and full news of all the important events of the day.
The year 1880 will be
One Copy by Mail, including Postage, 10 cts.
Five Copies, all one address, 45 cts.
Ten Copies, all one address, 85 cts.
And a Copy FREE of Charge of Club or Order.
Twenty Copies, all one address, $1.20.
And Two Copies FREE, one copy of Sunday Edition, and one copy of Daily Edition.
For Larger Circulation, one copy of Daily Edition, and one copy of Sunday Edition, or a combination of the two, for $2.50 per hundred.

PIANOS
HALLETT & CUMSTON, 459 WASHINGTON ST.
(Opp. Parker, Marsh & Co.)
21-45
Preserve Your SIGHT BY WEARING A PAIR OF ROSENBERG'S
"Perfect Brilliant" SPECTACLES
AND EYE GLASSES
Trade Mark
R. P. B.
Which are acknowledged by all to have reached a degree of excellence unequalled by any other.
FOR SALE BY
Z. L. BICKNELL & CO., dealing in Dry Goods and Groceries,
Jackson St., 7-21, E. WEYMOUTH.

P. H. GAVIN,
PLUMBER,
98 Hancock St., QUINCY.
Every variety of Plumbing work done at lowest prices. All orders for Gas, Water, and Sewer pipes will receive prompt attention. Address all orders to P. O. Box 75, Quincy, Mass. 39-41

New Stove Store.
CLOTHES AND MARKET BASKETS for sale at the New Stove Store. See the improved
Good News Range,
before you buy any other. Also, the DARLING RANGE
with all the improvements of a high priced Range, for only $25.00.
But please don't do as we unless you expect us to be prompt, and deal with us promptly. Address all orders to P. O. Box 75, Quincy, Mass. 39-41

J. MORAN,
TAILOR,
OVER CHARLES CRANE'S STORE,
Hancock St., QUINCY.
CUSTOM MADE PANTS, $3.75, 4.00, 4.50, 5.00, and upwards. $1.15 in accordance with the times, made from All-Week Cloth and warranted to fit. Please give me a call. 8-15

JOHN KELLY
is prepared to contract for MONUMENTAL WORK
of every description, in Marble and Granite.
Some (residential, neat, and inscriptions cut
at short notice, in a satisfactory manner. A share of the public patronage is respectfully solicited.
Shop at WEYMOUTH LANDING, opposite J.
Crane's Store.

G. F. DAYMON,
ALL KINDS OF CABINET
FURNITURE
MADE TO ORDER.
REUPHOLSTERING
OF
LOUNGES, SOFAS, CHAIRS,
in the best manner.
CHAIRS RESEATED
with the HARWOOD CANE or THREE PLY VEINER SEATING, as desired.
MOULDINGS
FOR PICTURE FRAMES, also a very nice arrangement of
FURNITURE POLISH.
All work warranted to give satisfaction.
Shawmut St., East Weymouth.
Fine Card Photographs
—MADE BY—
BUSSELL, Quincy, Mass.

THANKSGIVING!
We have now in stock A FULL SUPPLY OF THANKSGIVING GOODS INCLUDING
New CITRON, New L. M. RAISINS, New PRUNES, New NUTS,
also a full supply of
CANNED GOODS!
Every lover of a cup of good Tea should not fail to try our FORMOSA OOLONG at 60 Cts., which has a reputation second to none.
INGELL & CLAPP,
Lincoln Square.
Goods delivered in any part of the town FREE.

MISS M. I. BROOKS,
Pupil of Boston School of Oratory, will form Classes in Physical and Vocal Training, ELOCUTION and DRAMATIC READING.
Apply at residence, Commercial Street, Weymouth, Wednesdays and Fridays. 28-31

THE HOWE
Sewing Machines,
GEO. H. CUNNINGHAM, AGENT,
EAST WEYMOUTH.
that they will obtain a RELIABLE, ECONOM-IC, and every way
SUPERIOR MACHINE for all purposes, whether for Family or Manufacturing use.
All kinds of Machines taken in exchange. Persons wishing to test the HOWE MACHINE
will be accommodated on application as above, whether by using the old style Howe, or the recent improvements on this Machine, which give it greater durability, simplicity, speed, lightness in running and beauty of finish.
THE NEW "M" MACHINE is considered the best for Families as being the best in the world.
M. I. Brooks is also Agent for the NATIONAL WASH TREAD MACHINE FOR MANUFACTURERS.

Townsend's Pharmacy.
Jackson Square,
EAST WEYMOUTH,
Is stocked with a full selection of PURE and RELIABLE DRUGS and MEDICINES, in addition to a select list of Townsend's Popular Preparations
Elixir, Beef, Iron and Wine, Extract Jamaica Ginger, Townsend's Vegetable Cough Syrup, Magic Toothache Drops, BAY RUM,
Full Weight Sedlitz Powders, Flavoring Extracts,
Hair Oil and Perfumery, Aodyne Liniment,
ANTI BILIOUS BITTERS.
Physicians Prescriptions
Carefully compounded and dispensed.
Ice Cold SODA
with pure FRUIT SYRUPS.
JOHN TOWNSEND, Ph. G. has opened his NEW Fish & Vegetable
MARKET
near his residence on Broad St., Weymouth Landing, and will keep it well stocked with such as
Cod, Haddock,
Halibut, Perch,
Mackerel,
Blue Fish, Shad, &c.
VEGETABLES
OF ALL KINDS.
Orders called for if requested, and Goods delivered
FREE OF CHARGE.
Please give us a call.
Weymouth, July 11, 1879. 11-12

JOHN KELLY
is prepared to contract for MONUMENTAL WORK
of every description, in Marble and Granite.
Some (residential, neat, and inscriptions cut
at short notice, in a satisfactory manner. A share of the public patronage is respectfully solicited.
Shop at WEYMOUTH LANDING, opposite J.
Crane's Store.

G. F. DAYMON,
ALL KINDS OF
CABINET
FURNITURE
MADE TO ORDER.
REUPHOLSTERING
OF
LOUNGES, SOFAS, CHAIRS,
in the best manner.
CHAIRS RESEATED
with the HARWOOD CANE or THREE PLY VEINER SEATING, as desired.
MOULDINGS
FOR PICTURE FRAMES, also a very nice arrangement of
FURNITURE POLISH.
All work warranted to give satisfaction.
Shawmut St., East Weymouth.
Fine Card Photographs
—MADE BY—
BUSSELL, Quincy, Mass.

JOHN KELLY
is prepared to contract for MONUMENTAL WORK
of every description, in Marble and Granite.
Some (residential, neat, and inscriptions cut
at short notice, in a satisfactory manner. A share of the public patronage is respectfully solicited.
Shop at WEYMOUTH LANDING, opposite J.
Crane's Store.

Weymouth
DRUG STORE,
ESTABLISHED, 1843.
WHERE CAN BE FOUND ALL OF THE PATENT AND FAMILY MEDICINES
OF THE DAY.
Pure Drugs and Chemicals; and all articles usually found in a first-class Apothecary store, at prices to suit the times.
E. L. WARREN, Proprietor,
COMMERCIAL ST., WEYMOUTH LANDING.
HORSESHOEING, JOBBER and Carriage Work. executed in the neatest manner, and at the Lowest Possible Prices, at TIMOTHY J. BURBANK'S
Carriage Shop, 210
Broad Street, EAST WEYMOUTH.
$5 to $20 per day at home. Samples worth $500 for $50. Address BURBANK & CO., Portland, Me.

During this great advance in the Prices of all kinds of GROCERIES
it behooves us all to buy
Where we can buy the Lowest
"The Little Store on the Corner" will hold its reputation, and would invite all to call before purchasing elsewhere.
We have just received our Fall supply of CANNED GOODS.
Blackberries, Peaches, Pear Apples, Squash, Tomatoes, Corn, Lima Beans, which we will sell at the Lowest Market Prices. All goods sold at low margin, and warranted as represented. ALL ARE INVITED! SEATS FREE!!
F. M. DROWN, Prop'r. "Little Store on the Corner."

NOTICE TO Carriage Owners and Others.
On and after MONDAY, SEPT. 8, MR. CLARENCE BOWLER, of South Weymouth, will occupy the Wheelwright Shop of Albert A.
Spear, at Spear's Carriage Factory,
EAST WEYMOUTH,
where he will attend to the Repairing and Refitting of Carriages of all descriptions. Carriage Staples, and good work given, or no pay.
Mr. Bowler is a superior workman on any part of a carriage, a perfect wheel-builder, an extra saddler. He has an experience of over 20 years, 12 of which have been in the shop of Thomas Goddard, of Boston.
Prices will be as low as the lowest in town, and as low as a man living and giving good work.
Repairing Done in a Thorough Manner.
CUTTING PLANK of all widths constantly on hand.
Carriages stored while being repaired, if desired, and others furnished with horse and harness.
ALBERT A. SPEAR,
CLARENCE BOWLER.
1844

Are You Insured?
A. S. JORDAN & CO., AUTHORIZED AGENTS FOR Weymouth, Braintree & vicinity for the following FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES:
MUTUALS.
CITIZENS, OF BOSTON, (FORMERLY OF BIRMINGHAM).
MERRIMACK, OF ANDOVER, MASS.,
INCORPORATED 1825.
MERCHANTS' and FARMERS' of Worcester, Ma
Established 1847.
ASTOR, OF NEW YORK, MASS.
Established 1857.
The above Companies pay large Dividends on 1, 3 and 5 year Policies.
STOCK.
LIVERPOOL & LONDON & GLOBE
OF LIVERPOOL AND LONDON, ENG.
WATERTOWN, OF NEW YORK, N. Y.
QUEEN OF LONDON AND LIVERPOOL.
COLUMBIA, OF NEW YORK.
FARMER'S, OF BOSTON.
ETNA INSURANCE COMPANY.
NEW YORK CITY, NEW YORK.
COMMERCIAL, OF NEW YORK.
LIFE and ACCIDENT
TRAVELERS, of Hartford, Ct.
22-1/2 Insurance placed in the best Standard Companies.
OFFICE, 216 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.
AND WASHINGTON SQUARE, WEYMOUTH.
A request for Insurance by Mail or otherwise will receive immediate attention.

ALFRED WYMAN,
DRUGGIST and PHARMACEUT.
WASHINGTON ST., opposite Prospect,
EAST WEYMOUTH.
FRESH STOCK OF Finest Drugs and Chemicals CONSTANTLY ON HAND
ELEGANT
Handkerchief Extracts,
NOW IN STOCK, FULLY EQUAL IN STRENGTH AND EFFECT TO OGDOR TO LUBIN'S.
AT 50 CENTS AN OUNCE.
FULL LINE OF Patent Medicines, FINE ASSORTMENT OF
Brushes and Combs, Perfumery, &c.
PARTIAL ATTENTION TO PREPARING PRESCRIPTIONS
PRESCRIPTIONS FROM THE BEST MATERIALS.
6-11

JOB PRINTING
NOW FOR '79-'80!
The Examiner and Chronicle, [ESTABLISHED IN 1823]
THE LEADING PAPER NEWSPAPER, will be delivered by mail, postage prepaid, to New Subscribers.
From Oct. 1, 1879, to Jan. 1, 1880,
For 30 Cents.
The price of one year's subscription being $2.50.
This is done to enable every family to see, at the least possible price, what the paper is.
No issue obtained under this offer will be considered beyond January 1, 1880, unless prepaid for 1880 at the regular subscription price.

THE EXAMINER COMPRISES
A Current Event Exposition;
A Living Digest and Clarifier;
A Review of "Topics for the Times";
A Family and Household Guide;
A Sunday School Institute;
A Literary, Theological, scientific and Art Review.
A Popular Story Page, Family Miscellany, and A Market Reporter, &c., &c., &c., all conducted in an outspoken, wide-awake and popular manner.
THE EXAMINER and CHRONICLE is one of the largest-sized eight-page papers, and is designed as a Family Newspaper, with interesting and instructive reading for every member of the household, from the infant to the youngest.
In making it the Editor has the cooperation of the best writers, magazine and review writers
of the day.
SAMPLE COPIES FREE.
For terms and conditions apply to 1879-80 address
P. O. Box 3833, New York City

Upholstering
Furniture!
THE undersigned would inform the citizens of Weymouth and vicinity, that he is now preparing to receive orders for repairing and refitting of Carriages, and for making over MATTRESSES, &c.
UPHOLSTERING
Sofas, Lounges, Chairs,
&c., &c., specially. All work WARRANTED.
Gardner's Three-ply Seats,
(the best in the world) inserted in Case Seat Chairs,
and in all cases, RUBBERED IN CASES.
A stock of New Furniture constantly on hand and for sale at Low Prices.
New Sofas, Lounges and Chairs Made and Upholstered.
New Lounges, $5.00 and upwards.
Orders by mail, or otherwise, promptly attended to.
ANDREW CULLEY,
South Weymouth, Mass.
April 1st, 1879. 49-5

Good Workmen.
Good Presses, Good Type and Receipts, ETC.
PRINTED ENVELOPES, LETTER HEADS,
BUSINESS CARDS,
RECEIPTS, ETC.
Good Workmen.

THE BURRELL'S PATENT PAINT
COMPOUND,
—AND—PROVED GRAINING COLOR.
DRY AT WEYMOUTH,
MASS.
LIVER BURRELL.
BOX 246.

E. F. WEITMAN,
Oculist
—AND—Aurist,
124 Temple Place, corner Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.
Examination of the Eye. Passage removed without a surgical operation. Eyes inserted without pain. $5.

CANCER, SCROFULA,
Gonorrhea, Catarrh, Dyspepsia,
Diarrhea, Hemorrhoids, Piles, Aneurysm, Hernia, etc., treated by the use of the "Gonorrhea Cure," a new and powerful remedy, which cures in a few days.
34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass.
Examination free, personally or by mail.

IRONIC DISEASES
—SPECIALTY—
E. GREENE, M. D.
The Specialist who treats the entire range of iron diseases, from the most common to the most rare, and who guarantees a cure in every case.
34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass.
Examination free, personally or by mail.

MOBILE MORSE, AUCTIONEER,
For the sale of real estate, stock, and other personal property. Also, the sale of real estate and personal property on commission. Address: Boston, Mass.

F. DAYMON, MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF CABINET
FURNITURE
MADE TO ORDER.
EUPHOLSTERING

UNGENS, SOFAS, CHAIRS,
in the best manner.
HAIRS RESEATED
the HARROW CASE or THREE PLY VENEER SEATING, as desired.
MOLDINGS
FURNITURE FRAMES; also a very nice line of
FURNITURE POLISH.
All work warranted to give satisfaction.
Wm. St. East Weymouth.

J. MORAN,
TAILOR,
OVER CHARLES CHASE'S STORE,
Quincy.
CUSTOM MADE PANTS, $3.75, 4.00, 4.50,
and 5.00. Suits to order, with material made from All Wool Cloths and suits. Please give me a call. 8-17

JOHN KELLY
is prepared to contract for MONUMENTAL WORK
of every description in MARBLE and GRANITE,
and to erect and set the same in a satisfactory manner. A large quantity of granite is constantly on hand at WEYMOUTH LANDING, opposite J.
St. East Store.

B. Stetson has received his Fall and Winter
BOOTS, SHOES

—AND—Rubber Goods, and is prepared to sell at Lower Prices than can be had in Quincy or vicinity.

We keep a GREAT VARIETY of Ladies', Misses' and Children's RED & GOAT BUTTON BOOTS,
—AND—
Men's Thick Boots,
Brogans and Bais.

BOYS and YOUTHS
ALF and THICK BOOTS.
DRESSING for Ladies' Boots and Ladies' and Gent's HOSIERY. and many other articles too numerous to mention. Come and see our goods and you will be surprised at the low prices.
D. B. STETSON,
Washington St., - QUINCY.

P. H. GAVIN,
PLUMBER,
25 Hancock St., QUINCY.

New Stove Store.
FURNITURES and MARKET BASKETS for sale cheap at the New Stove Store. See the advertisements.

Good News Range,
DARLING RANGE
are the improvements of a high priced Range, which will do all the work of two ranges for one price. Deal with us as you would with any other range. Address: Quincy, Mass.
JOSEPH L. BATES

Weymouth Gazette.

BRAINTREE REPORTER.

VOL. 13.

WEYMOUTH, MASS., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1879.

NO. 31.

The Weymouth Gazette.
PUBLISHED BY
C. G. KESTERHOOKE,
FRIDAY, AT WEYMOUTH, MASS.
Two Dollars a Year, in Advance.
Single Copy, Five Cents.
Orders for all kinds of Printing will receive prompt attention, and be neatly and correctly executed.

Business Cards.
FRANK W. LEWIS,
Attorney and Counselor at Law,
WEYMOUTH, Mass.
HAY and STRAW!
Bundle Hay and Straw
FOR SALE BY
JON. LOUD & CO.,
WEYMOUTH LANDING.

C. S. WILLIAMS,
Stock Broker.
U. S. SECURITIES, STOCKS &
BONDS.
Residence and office in commission, in Boston,
New York and San Francisco. Money advanced on Stocks and Bonds purchased by us.
Basement Old State House,
BOSTON. 15-17.

W. K. BAKER & SON,
GRAIN, MEAL,
HAY, STRAW, &c.
CONSTANTLY ON HAND, and FOR SALE
wholesale and retail, in Lowest Cash Prices.
Also, MINERAL SALT for Horses.
BAKER'S EXPRESS,
Weymouth Landing.

FLOOD & CUSTANCE,
BLACKSMITHS,
Corner of Common and Washington Streets,
Weymouth Landing.
HORSESHOEING AND CAR-
riage Work of all kinds,
DONE AT SHORT NOTICE.

Don't Forget
B. F. Godwin,
HAIR DRESSER,
JACKSON SQUARE, EAST WEYMOUTH.
27-29

W. I. JORDAN
RESPECTFULLY informs the public that he has established himself
at SHAW ST., EAST BRAINTREE, where he is prepared to take all orders for BLACKSMITH WORK, HORSE
SHOEING, CARriage WORK,
—AND—
A large quantity of high quality iron and steel on hand.

Henry L. Thayer,
LIVERY, BOARDING & BAITING
STABLE,
Washington Square, WEYMOUTH.
27-29

JOSEPH SHERMAN, DEALER IN COAL,
WOOD,
LIME, CEMENT,
BUNDLE HAY & STRAW
Flour, Grain, Feed,
BRICK, LATHS, HAIR, SAND, etc.
Wood Sawn for $1.50 per Cord.
Also, Agent for several FIRE INSURANCE
COMPANIES, both STOCK and MUTUAL.
OFFICE, WARE AND EAST STREETS,
EAST WEYMOUTH.

GEO. W. HERSEY
Painter and Glazier,
—AND DEALER IN—
Paints, Oil, Glass, Varnish, Putty, Glue,
shop in Geo. S. Baker's building, near the corner of Richmond Street.

Weymouth Landing.
Mutual Fire Insurance Co.,
OF WEYMOUTH.
Insures Dwellings, and other Buildings
not extra Hazardous.
and their contents, at as low rates as any other responsible Company.
Amount at Risk, April 1, 1877, $1,813,571.00
Amount of Assets, $83,920.08
N. L. WHITE, President.
ELIAS RICHARDS, Secretary.

For First-class Cabinet Portraits,
—GO TO—
BUSSELL'S, Quincy, Mass.

HORSE WANTED!
YOUNG, safe, sound and kind; weight about 1000 lbs., color brown, black or bay; not afraid of water or danger; good driver and worker.
If you have such a one, and don't want to waste time, please call on J. H. BATES, 27-29

A. FRANK BUSSELL,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST,
QUINCY, MASS.
CHILDREN'S PICTURES a Specialty.

DR. LA ROY'S
WORM POWDERS

Will save the life of every child. Always safe.
By mail, 25c. CHENEY & MYERS, N. Des Moines, 15 Union Street, Boston, Mass. Agents. 27-29

THANKSGIVING
50 CENT
PRICE LIST
—OF THE—
BOSTON GROCERY CO.

3 lbs. New London Muscatel Raisins.
4 lbs. Valencia Raisins, best new Currants.
5 lbs. French Prunes.
6 lbs. best Leghorn Citron.
7 lbs. new Dates.
8 lbs. Choice Figs.
9 lbs. Layer Figs.
10 lbs. Filberts.
11 lbs. Castanas.
12 lbs. Naples Walnuts.
13 lbs. New Almonds.
14 lbs. Pecans.
15 lbs. Peanuts.
16 lbs. Chestnuts.
17 lbs. Shellbarks.
18 lbs. New Mixed Nuts.
19 lbs. Sugared Almonds, burnt.
20 lbs. French do. do.
21 lbs. Chocolate Creams.
22 lbs. Gum Drops.
23 lbs. Nuts.
24 lbs. Cream Checkerberries.
25 lbs. best French Mixture.
26 lbs. choice Broken Candy.
27 lbs. French Cream Peppermints.

7 lbs. Common Crackers.
8 lbs. Oyster.
9 lbs. Soda.
10 lbs. Ship.
11 lbs. Real Butter.
12 lbs. Cornhill.
13 lbs. Star.
14 lbs. Animal.
15 lbs. Egg.
16 lbs. Graham.
17 lbs. Ginger Wafers.
18 lbs. Wine Crackers.
19 lbs. best Ginger Snaps.
20 lbs. Pilot Bread.
21 lbs. choice Mixed Tea.
22 lbs. Oolong.
23 lbs. Formosa.
24 lbs. Oolong.
25 lbs. Hyson.
26 lbs. Mocha & Java Coffee.
27 lbs. Old Gov't Java.
28 lbs. Rio.
29 lbs. Preanger.
30 lbs. Maracibo.
31 lbs. Hayward's.
32 lbs. Cassia, Pure.
33 lbs. Ginger.
34 lbs. Cloves.
35 lbs. Pimento.
36 lbs. Pepper.
37 lbs. Pure Cream Tartar.
38 lbs. Assorted Herbs.
39 lbs. bot. Ext. Lemon.
40 lbs. Vanilla.
41 lbs. Strawberry.
42 lbs. Lemon, Burnett's.
43 lbs. Vanilla.

1 qt. bot. Imported Sweet Oil.
2 large bot. American "
4 half pt. bot. "
5 bot. Tomato Ketchup.
6 " Walnut "
7 " North England Sauce.
8 cans Keen's Eng. Mustard.
9 " S. & P. "
10 " White Pepper.
11 " Cayenne "
12 " Lobster.
13 " Salmon.
14 Brush Brooms.
15 Scrubbing Brushes.
16 lbs. Gillet's Bird Food.
17 bot. Fancy Pickles, etc.
18 large boxes Shoe Blacking.
19 500 Cigars.
20 bottles Tamarinds.
21 quarter boxes Sardines.
22 " " P. & C. "
23 bot. Imported Pickles.
24 bot. American Mustard.
25 " Imported "
26 " Pickles, assorted.
27 large bottles Capers.
28 lbs. choice Table Butter.
29 " best Stage Cheese.

3 lbs. Pure Leaf Lard.
4 bars Dobbins' Soap.
5 " French Laundry Soap.
6 " Queen "
7 " Ex. No. 1 R.P.V. "
8 " Family "
9 " Famous C. & D. " 10 large bars Family "
11 lbs. Mottled Castile "
12 Pure Olive White Castile Soap.
13 bars Welcome, C.D. & Co. do.
14 " Tulip, C. L. Jones Soap.
15 " Globe "
16 " Mineral "
17 cans Babbitt's Potash.
18 qts. Cranberries.
19 " New Medium Beans.
20 " Pea "
21 " Yellow Eye "
22 " Split Peas.
23 " Green Canada Peas.
24 doz. Lemons.
25 lbs. Fancy Flour.
26 " Haxall Flour.
27 " Granulated Meal.
28 " Canada Oat Meal.
29 " Scotch "
30 " Irish "
31 Schupp's Cocoanut.
32 Clothes Lines, 80 ft. each.
33 large Clothes Basket.
34 bottles Carter's Ink.
35 cks. Out Meal Toilet Soap.
36 bottles Mucilage.
37 cakes Toilet Soap, Colgate's.
38 " "

7 pieces Choice Smoking Tobacco.
8 Havana Cigars.
9 25 dozen Clothes Pins.
10 bottles Bluing, Sawyer's.
11 4 Brooms, very good.
12 3 Stove Brushes.
13 Shoe "
14 6 lbs. Salt Pork.
15 " Cod Fish.
16 2 galls. Vinegar, strictly pure.
17 " Kerosene Oil, warranted
18 lbs. Boneless Fish.
19 Arrowroot.
20 " Alum "
21 " Pure Mustard, loose.
22 " Irish Moss.
23 " Pearl Tapioca.
24 " Gum Arabic.
25 " Whiting.
26 " Punice Stone, loose.
27 " White Corn Flour.
28 " Hominy.
29 " Pickle Salt.
30 " Table "
31 " Liverpool "
32 4 doz. Washing Crystal.
33 4 pkgs. Farina, "Hecker's."
34 " Mazina.
35 " Silver Gloss Starch.
36 " Gilbert's Corn Starch.
37 2 lbs. Yeast Powder, loose.
38 20 " Sweet Potatoes.
39 3 " Hornby's Oat Meal.
40 2 pks. Fancy Early Rose Potatoes.

13 " Eating Apples.
14 lbs. Best Carolina Rice.
15 " Rangoon Rice.
16 " Flake Tapioca.
17 " Fresh Shells.
18 " Washing Soda.
19 4 qts. Rape Seed.
20 " Canary "
21 " Hemp "
22 9 lbs. Wheat.
23 " Laundry Starch.
24 " Saleratus, loose.
25 " Pearl Barley.

The Price List is subject to fluctuation of the Market. —

BOSTON GROCERY CO.,
R. P. VALIQUET, PROP.,
Jackson Sq., East Weymouth.

THE FOOD REMEDY,
PHOSPHATINE.
THE GREAT
MEDICAL DISCOVERY
OF THE CENTURY.
AN ALMOST CERTAIN CURE FOR PULMONARY CONSUMPTION.
—AND—
ALL NERVOUS DISEASES.
The new chemical food is not a poisonous medicine, but is as pleasant to the taste as a glass of good wine. It can be used at any time, in the same way as the juice of grape. Its use is recommended by leading physicians.
It is a remedy which will cure consumption and dyspepsia, and should therefore attract the attention of the entire world.
It is a great boon to the human race. Hundreds of business men in Boston and elsewhere are found in their prisons for what has done for them.
It is the true tonic for the weak and debilitated, and is the only remedy for the disease of the lungs.
It is a remedy which will cure consumption and dyspepsia, and should therefore attract the attention of the entire world.
It is a great boon to the human race. Hundreds of business men in Boston and elsewhere are found in their prisons for what has done for them.
It is the true tonic for the weak and debilitated, and is the only remedy for the disease of the lungs.
It is a remedy which will cure consumption and dyspepsia, and should therefore attract the attention of the entire world.
It is a great boon to the human race. Hundreds of business men in Boston and elsewhere are found in their prisons for what has done for them.
It is the true tonic for the weak and debilitated, and is the only remedy for the disease of the lungs.

DR. GEORGE L. AUSTIN & CO.,
79 MILK STREET, BOSTON, MASS.
FOR SALE BY
John Townsend, Ph. G.,
Broad St., East Weymouth.
Also at WEYMOUTH, and the
WEYMOUTH DRUG STORE.

R.V. Merchant
Deals in the best Foreign and Domestic Goods.
Fall & Winter CLOTHING,
—IN THE—
LATEST STYLES,
And from the best Foreign and Domestic Goods.
His long experience in cutting GENTLEMEN'S GARMENTS
enables him to warrant a PERFECT FIT
in all cases.
Prices as Low as the Lowest.
REAL ESTATE FOR SALE
BY THE
WEYMOUTH SAVINGS BANK.
UPWARDS OF
12 ACRES OF LAND 12
6 Dwelling-Houses,
situated in Weymouth and Braintree.
For full particulars inquire of
CHAS. T. CRANE, Treas.

RECITATIONS.
MRS. W. E. CUSHING
Desires to make arrangements with LECTURE
COMMITTEES, LYCEUMS, &c., to give Programmes of Recitations
(Dramatic, Humorous, Didactic and Pathetic)
—ON—
MOST FAVORABLE TERMS.
S. R. KELLEY, Professor of Elocution in the New England Conservatory of Music, says in a testimonial to Mrs. Cushing: "The programme was of high order, and she gave it with a grace and ease which was entirely new to me. Her delivery was clear, strong, and full of life. Her voice was sweet and melodious, and her manner was charming. She was a perfect artist, and her recitations were a great treat to all who heard them."

John C. Haynes & Co.,
33 COURT ST., BOSTON.
Musical Boxes in Great Variety.
Brass Band Instruments.
Violas.
American Guitars Warranted.
Imported Guitars.
Banjos from $2.00 upwards.
Violin, Violoncello, Double Bass, Banjo,
Zither and Harp Strings and Trimmings.
Accordeons and Concertinas of all descriptions.
American and Foreign Sheet Music Books.
&c. Wholesale & Retail.
To LET.
TRUE DWELLING-HOUSE, on the corner of Washington and Richmond Streets, formerly owned by Washington Meritt.
Apply to
DR. A. G. NYE, Weymouth.

Literary Reading

HE WAS WITH GRANT.
"I was with Grant," the stranger said,
Said the farmer, "say no more,
But rest thee here at my cottage porch,
For thy feet are weary and sore."
"How fared my boy—my soldier boy,
Of the Old—thou army corps?
I warrant he took him gallantly
In the smoke and the battle's roar."
"I cannot tell," said the aged man,
And should have remarked before,
That I was with Grant, in Illinois,
Some three years before the war."
Then the farmer spoke him never a word,
But beat with his fist full sore
That aged man who had worked for Grant
Some three years before the war.

ORIGINAL TALE.
THE MANDEVILLE PRIDE.
A STORY OF
Two Thanksgivings.
BY BELLE BECHWOOD.
CHAPTER II.

Neither Dr. Mandeville nor any of Richard Halliday's friends except Mr.
Brian, and though Mr. Norton knew that he had wound up all of his own and his father's affairs;
and not until he had been gone a week did the doctor or any of his family
know that he had left Hereford.
Mr. Norton, who was one of the largest legitimate creditors, after stoutly insisting that Richard should not sacrifice his own prospects to pay his father's debts, had when he found
the young man was determined on so doing, consented to take the foundry
and the dwelling house at a valuation,
and, as has been seen, was more than richly repaid by the settlement which Richard proposed.

In pursuance of his determination to accumulate wealth,—of itself not a very noble aim,—Richard went from Hereford directly to California, and there, devoting every energy of mind and body to the one object of his ambition, he succeeded, for something over two years, beyond his most sanguine expectations, in accumulating gold.

But from across the continent came first rumors and then the faint echo
of the distant thunder of war; and Richard Halliday, out of whom disappointed love had not crushed all of his manhood, found himself fired with a nobler ambition than to strive to be rich, and realized that he had in his heart one other love—a love for his country; and hastening to San Francisco he carefully invested the gold that he had obtained literally by the sweat of his brow, and then accepted
the first opportunity that offered to enlist as a soldier of the republic.

Viola Mandeville had heard nothing
in regard to him since he had left Hereford. His sudden departure,
which it was soon rumored was made with the intention of never returning to Hereford, was the first intimation that any one but himself and the one to whom he had been engaged had
that the engagement was broken off,
although Mr. Brian had suspected it.
Even Dr. Mandeville supposed that there was nothing more serious than a lover's quarrel. As soon, however,
as it became known that the bells of Hereford were free, lovers sprang up in his pathway like mushrooms, and she could have had a dozen eligible suitors for her hand and heart. But she realized when it was too late
that she had no heart at her disposal, and withdrew almost wholly from society.

Not suspecting that she had any personal interest in the war beyond
a natural one felt in the fate of a few with whom she was acquainted who had gone from Hereford, she seldom read any of the accounts in the papers of the numberless battles that were fought, and therefore did not read of the bravery of private Halliday in rescuing the regiment of color after they had been captured by the enemy; of the daring act of Lieut.
tenant Halliday in taking, with but half a company of men, a rebel gun which was pouring death into the ranks of the Union troops; of the thanks of the commanding general to Captain Halliday for his coolness and courage in delivering dispatches from one wing to another of the army in the face of almost certain death, and by which a battle that otherwise would have been lost was won; of the wounding—probably fatally—of Colonel Halliday, and the regrets expressed of the loss to the army and the country of so young and promising an officer.

Viola Mandeville neither read nor heard of any of those incidents.
Other cares and troubles had surrounded her life, and for awhile had banished from her mind almost every memory of the past with the anxiety
they brought in regard to the present and the future. From the time of the death of Mr. Halliday, the real cause of which he mistook was not heart disease, Dr. Mandeville seemed to lose much of his activity, and the destruction of his hopes for Viola by the departure of Richard Halliday further unsettled him. Two young physicians soon after commenced practice in the town, and the old doctor's business rapidly falling off. He found it impossible to regain any portion that he lost; he had no idea of economy; and in order to keep up the style of living to which he and his family had been accustomed, he was compelled to mortgage his house for its full value, and with his other expenses and his diminished income, he had recently found it impossible to pay the interest on the mortgage.

All this he knew by Viola, and yet
she felt herself powerless to avert the impending ruin.

But though she had no knowledge of what had become of her former lover, Mr. Norton who had been an old and firm friend of Richard's father, and who had secretly admired
the son's determination to save his father's memory from reproach even at the expense of impoverishing himself, saw his name mentioned in connection with deeds of daring, and took measures to satisfy himself that the man whose he had known and loved from his birth; and when Mr. Norton learned that Colonel Halliday had been severely wounded, he determined to go to him, and, if he should find him
alive, take him to Hereford.
Mr. Norton had been told by Mr.
Brian that Richard did not take any portion of that three thousand dollars away with him; but Mr. Brian did not feel that he had a right to tell any one what disposal had been made and
was to be made of the money.

When Mr. Norton finally succeeded in finding Colonel Halliday, he learned that although fearfully wounded and wholly unconscious of everything that was being done for him, he had lost and would lose no limb; and the surgeons had hopes that with constant care, and unless some unexpected unfavorable symptom should be developed, he would eventually recover; but that at the best it would be several weeks before he could bear the fatigue of a long journey, however gently he might be carried for him. Mr. Norton, therefore, whose extensive business imperatively demanded his supervision, could only beseech those who had the care of Richard to do everything in their power to restore him to health, to spare no expense, and to telegraph
daily to him to Hereford how the patient was progressing.

Six weeks after he saw Richard lying wounded and unconscious in a hospital, Mr. Norton again stood beside his couch, to find him, though still as weak as an infant, in his right mind, and not possessing of sufficient strength of will to refuse to allow himself to be taken to Hereford, which he assuredly would have done
if he had been perfectly well.

Mr. Brian had heard nothing of Richard Halliday from that Thanksgiving evening when they parted at the door of what had been Richard's home. He had, however, faithfully and very profitably invested the money
then entrusted to his care, and on the fifth anniversary of the day on which he received it, he handed the amount, together with what he had accumulated, in all nearly four thousand dollars, and the note which he received from Richard, to the one to whom the envelope was addressed.
As it happened that anniversary occurred two days before the day appointed for Thanksgiving.

Viola did not know Mr. Brian, and he, having satisfied himself that he had given the package into the hands of the one for whom it was intended,
left immediately, giving her no opportunity to ask him anything about it.
The writing on the envelope appeared to her familiar, and yet she did not mistake whose it was, but she opened the note before she examined the contents of the package that accompanied it. And these are the words which the note contained.

Dear loved and forever lost: I have done what I believed to be right, and by so doing I have wrecked my own happiness for life; but I have saved the name of him to whom I owed my life from reproach. I find very unexpectedly and at the last moment, enough of will to refuse to allow myself to be taken to Hereford, which I have intended for five years, at the end of which time, with whatever ill health I may have incurred during the time, the enemy, if it was, the only glam of light in the future that remains for RICHARD HALLIDAY.

The note was dated on the evening that, as Viola had afterward learned, Richard left Hereford. For several minutes after she read the note she was powerless to move; such a tide of memories swept through her mind as to deprive her of all power even to think. Then as she realized the generosity of the act, the delicacy of the giver in putting off of the time when she should receive it till she could not be made to feel that it was an appeal to her again taken into her favor, the ingrain belief the money would be to her father who, at least, had had no hand in driving Richard Halliday from his home, she pressed the note to her lips, feeling that it was as sacred as a message from the dead, and exclaimed:

"Noble, generous to the last! Oh, what insanity possessed me that I should have driven him from me!"

Literary Reading

HE WAS WITH GRANT.
"I was with Grant," the stranger said,
Said the farmer, "say no more,
But rest thee here at my cottage porch,
For thy feet are weary and sore."
"How fared my boy—my soldier boy,
Of the Old—thou army corps?
I warrant he took him gallantly
In the smoke and the battle's roar."
"I cannot tell," said the aged man,
And should have remarked before,
That I was with Grant, in Illinois,
Some three years before the war."
Then the farmer spoke him never a word,
But beat with his fist full sore
That aged man who had worked for Grant
Some three years before the war.

ORIGINAL TALE.
THE MANDEVILLE PRIDE.
A STORY OF
Two Thanksgivings.
BY BELLE BECHWOOD.
CHAPTER II.

Neither Dr. Mandeville nor any of Richard Halliday's friends except Mr.
Brian, and though Mr. Norton knew that he had wound up all of his own and his father's affairs;
and not until he had been gone a week did the doctor or any of his family
know that he had left Hereford.
Mr. Norton, who was one of the largest legitimate creditors, after stoutly insisting that Richard should not sacrifice his own prospects to pay
his father's debts, had when he found
the young man was determined on so doing, consented to take the foundry
and the dwelling house at a valuation,
and, as has been seen, was more than richly repaid by the settlement which Richard proposed.

In pursuance of his determination
to accumulate wealth,—of itself not a very noble aim,—Richard went from Hereford directly to California, and
there, devoting every energy of mind
and body to the one object of his ambition, he succeeded, for something
over two years, beyond his most sanguine expectations, in accumulating gold.

But from across the continent came
first rumors and then the faint echo
of the distant thunder of war; and Richard Halliday, out of whom disappointed love had not crushed all of his manhood, found himself fired with
a nobler ambition than to strive to be rich, and realized that he had in his heart one other love—a love for his country; and hastening to San Francisco he carefully invested the gold
that he had obtained literally by the sweat of his brow, and then accepted
the first opportunity that offered to enlist as a soldier of the republic.

Viola Mandeville had heard nothing
in regard to him since he had left Hereford. His sudden departure,
which it was soon rumored was made
with the intention of never returning
to Hereford, was the first intimation
that any one but himself and the one
to whom he had been engaged had
that the engagement was broken off,
although Mr. Brian had suspected it.
Even Dr. Mandeville supposed that there was nothing more serious than a lover's quarrel. As soon, however,
as it became known that the bells of Hereford were free, lovers sprang up
in his pathway like mushrooms, and
she could have had a dozen eligible suitors for her hand and heart. But she realized when it was too late
that she had no heart at her disposal,
and withdrew almost wholly from
society.

Not suspecting that she had any personal interest in the war beyond
a natural one felt in the fate of
a few with whom she was acquainted
who had gone from Hereford, she seldom read any of the accounts in the papers of the numberless battles that were fought, and therefore did not read of the bravery of private Halliday in rescuing the regiment of color after they had been captured by the enemy; of the daring act of Lieut.
tenant Halliday in taking, with but
half a company of men, a rebel gun
which was pouring death into the ranks of the Union troops; of the
thanks of the commanding general to Captain Halliday for his coolness and courage in delivering dispatches from one wing to another of the army in the face of almost certain death, and by which a battle that otherwise would have been lost was won; of the wounding—probably fatally—of Colonel Halliday, and the regrets expressed of the loss to the army and the country of so
young and promising an officer.

Viola Mandeville neither read nor
heard of any of those incidents.
Other cares and troubles had surrounded her life, and for awhile had banished from her mind almost every memory of the past with the anxiety
they brought in regard to the present and the future. From the time of the death of Mr. Halliday, the real cause of which he mistook was not heart disease, Dr. Mandeville seemed to lose much of his activity, and the destruction of his hopes for Viola by
the departure of Richard Halliday further unsettled him. Two young physicians soon after commenced practice
in the town, and the old doctor's business rapidly falling off. He found it impossible to regain any portion that he lost; he had no idea of economy; and in order to keep up the style of living to which he and his family had been accustomed, he was compelled to mortgage his house for

its full value, and with his other expenses and his diminished income, he had recently found it impossible to pay the interest on the mortgage.
All this he knew by Viola, and yet
she felt herself powerless to avert the impending ruin.

But though she had no knowledge of what had become of her former lover, Mr. Norton who had been an old and firm friend of Richard's father, and who had secretly admired
the son's determination to save his father's memory from reproach even at the expense of impoverishing himself, saw his name mentioned in connection with deeds of daring, and took measures to satisfy himself that the man whose he had known and loved from his birth; and when Mr. Norton learned that Colonel Halliday had been severely wounded, he determined to go to him, and, if he should find him
alive, take him to Hereford.
Mr. Norton had been told by Mr.
Brian that Richard did not take any portion of that three thousand dollars away with him; but Mr. Brian did not feel that he had a right to tell any one what disposal had been made and
was to be made of the money.

When Mr. Norton finally succeeded in finding Colonel Halliday, he learned that although fearfully
wounded and wholly unconscious of everything that was being done for
him, he had lost and would lose no
limb; and the surgeons had hopes
that with constant care, and unless
some unexpected unfavorable symptom should be developed, he would eventually recover; but that at the best it would be several weeks before
he could bear the fatigue of a long journey, however gently he might be carried for him. Mr. Norton, therefore, whose extensive business imperatively
demanded his supervision, could only beseech those who had the care of Richard to do everything in their power to restore him to health, to spare no expense, and to telegraph
daily to him to Hereford how the patient was progressing.

Six weeks after he saw Richard lying wounded and unconscious in a hospital, Mr. Norton again stood beside his couch, to find him, though still as weak as an infant, in his right
mind, and not possessing of sufficient strength of will to refuse to allow himself to be taken to Hereford,
which he assuredly would have done
if he had been perfectly well.

Mr. Brian had heard nothing of Richard Halliday from that Thanksgiving evening when they parted at
the door of what had been Richard's home. He had, however, faithfully
and very profitably invested the money
then entrusted to his care, and on the fifth anniversary of the day on which he received it, he handed the amount, together with what he had accumulated, in all nearly four thousand dollars, and the note which he received from Richard, to the one to whom the envelope was addressed.
As it happened that anniversary occurred two days before the day appointed for Thanksgiving.

Viola did not know Mr. Brian, and he, having satisfied himself that he had given the package into the hands
of the one for whom it was intended,
left immediately, giving her no opportunity to ask him anything about it.
The writing on the envelope appeared to her familiar, and yet she did not mist

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

GEN. GEO. H. THOMAS.

Some ideas suggested by the unveiling of the statue of the late Gen. Sherman.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15th.

Washington has been given over the past week to the public honoring of the memory of Thomas. Not since the famous review of sixty-five has the national capital been decked as gaily; so many distinguished strangers thronged the streets and familiarly jostled each other in the hotel corridors; so vast and brilliant a military display wound its slow length along the avenues, or such immense throngs of people crowded and pushed and overflowed sidewalks and pavements, as during the past few days. It has been a public expression of reverence and appreciation of the worth of a great and pure countryman, that has reached the verge of enthusiasm, hardly to have been expected at so distant a date from the fulfillment of his services.

George H. Thomas, who held the fort at Chickamauga, and captured fifteen thousand at Nashville after one of the most hotly contested and decisive combats of the war, is destined to stand out in history as one of the greatest, if minor figures, developed by that epoch in our destinies. Winfield Scott and Thomas were the two Virginians who, under the great temptations cut away from state associations and remained loyal to the Union. When Jeff Davis came into the possession of the war portfolio in 1855, one of his first acts was to organize two fine additional regiments of Dragons, which were undoubtedly officered with a view to their being carried with the South in the event of secession. As evidence of this we find Albert Sidney Johnston appointed Colonel; Robert E. Lee, Lieutenant Colonel; Earl Van Dorn, Hardee and Geo. H. Thomas, Majors; and among the subalterns such men as C. W. Field, Jenifer, John B. Hood and Fitzhugh Lee. It is likewise a matter of history, that every mother's son of this crowd, with the exception of Thomas, did go with the South, and were to a man prominent actors in the rebellion. The Regiment however was saved to the Union and Thomas became its Colonel about the time that Sherman accepted the Colonels of the 13th Infantry. Thomas graduated in the class of 1840, forty-one of whose members went into the rebellion. All of his family went with the South, and so his was the feeling against him for his loyalty, that a sword presented to him for distinguished services in the Mexican war by the state of Virginia, was refused him by his own sister, who presented it to the captain of a Confederate company raised in the county. He was ostracized by neighbors and friends and so thoroughly thrown upon his own resources, that his mental condition was one of despair. Such were the circumstances under which Thomas cast his fortune with the Union.

It would be difficult to overstate his services. They are marked throughout the history of the conflict with such names as Stone River, Chickamauga, Missionary Ridge, Resaca, Kenesaw Mountain, Franklin and Nashville, no less than by the resolution in which Congress on the 3rd of March, 1865, tendered its thanks "for the skill and dauntless courage by which the rebel army under General Hood, was signally defeated and driven from the state of Tennessee." Hence in honoring Thomas, the army of the Cumberland, no less than the people who massed themselves about his statue, and thronged every avenue spot from which any portion of the ceremonies could be viewed, did no less than a patriotic duty, by showing how deep in their hearts are the memories of the war, and their gratitude to the defenders of the Union in its hour of danger.

Of the other prominent figures in the demonstration, Sherman's was doubtless the most marked and characteristic. I should imagine Sherman to be the American Von Moltke. Plain, almost rough and homely in carriage and deportment, candid, outspoken and bluff, gentle to a fault, easy-going and tender-hearted as a woman, nevertheless as stern and unflinching as a rock in emergencies, and as opinionated and brusque as Old Hickory himself, Sherman is essentially an American of the proverbial type, after much the plan that caricaturists are in the habit of depicting Brother Jonathan; a tall, slim and angular personage, careless alike of dress, speech and manner, and with a firm and unbending idea that one needs but to be an American to accomplish all things. He is of precisely the type that popular favorites are made, a man of overweening vanity, without ambition; one in whom the greatest powers may be intrusted in the absolute confidence that all things would be subservient to the public good. If there is one thing uppermost in Sherman's character, it is love of country, and the unflinching trust and belief in its magnificent future and civilizing destinies. No man so much as he, ever possessed the love of the army, over which he ruled with a hand of iron concealed beneath a glove as tender as velvet. Such men as McClellan and Fremont and Hancock, were idols of the soldiery out of a mere proximal burst of enthusiasm, that disappeared with the occasion; the feeling toward Sherman is firm, confident and abiding.

I could never discover anything of the popular hero in the presence of character of Hancock. As he sat in his carriage on Wednesday, surrounded by a brilliant staff and attended by all the show and glitter which high military rank demands and distinguishes, the crowd of masses looked upon a gray, portly, self-contented individual whose face was as broad and expressionless as his abdomen, and as totally unlike any portrait of the Hancock of the old 2d Army Corps as could well be imagined. No enthusiasm attended his progress, no cheers came from the admiring populace. I question whether one out of a thousand were aware that that particular carriage contained the one military figure that came out of the war as it went in, with Democratic paragon principles, and whose name has been mentioned for every Democratic nomination for the Presidency since the close of the rebellion. Hancock has no personal magnetism. Beyond his name, which smacks of Americanism undiluted, and his quietly brave and irreproachable war record, I question whether any weaker candidate could be placed before the people.

McDowell is essentially a soldier of soldierly bearing and antecedents, and with no higher ambition than I was ever aware of. In appearance he greatly resembles Hancock, possibly a trifle stouter but scarcely distinguishable from the latter, as side by side, the carriages bearing the two Major Generals, directed precisely alike, and followed by precisely the same retinue of staff, brilliant and dapper in gold lace and buttons passed along the avenue followed by others in which rode Scolded similarly attended, as well as Crook and Auger and Pope, and lesser lights, to mention whom would engross the balance of this column. I am afraid that we are so dulled by the configuity of great men in Washington, that nothing less than a Major General is deemed worthy of notice.

I was particularly struck however, by the presence of a few men walking in the ranks of the Army of the Cumberland, who are illustrious examples of the revolution through which vast armies are created for emergencies, and so suddenly dissolved when the emergency no longer exists. Arm-in-arm, in no manner distinguishable from their three or four hundred associates, on whose breasts were pinned a blue badge of membership, came such men as Don Carlos Buell, James A. Garfield, Jeff. C. Davis, Butterfield, Martindale, Sumner, Long, Alex. McDowell, McCook, as well as perhaps a score of others whose names are illustrious in peace as in war, and in merging all identities, afforded the pleasing spectacle of fraternity and good will which above all things marked this demonstration to the memory of Thomas.

The American Legion of Honor.
A Council of the above named Society was instituted in the city of Providence, R. I., on Thursday evening, 20th inst., by Deputy Supreme Commander Andrew Dow, and will be known as Narragansett Council, No. 1. The following were elected and installed as officers: Past Commander, E. A. Loomis; Commander, F. L. Forsyth, M. D., formerly of Weymouth; Vice Commander, Adrian Mathews, M. D.; Orator, Gardiner Blandin; Secretary, Geo. D. Hersey, M. D.; Treasurer, John W. Greene; Collector, W. S. Hayden; Chaplain, Thos. K. Foster; Sentinel, Stockford Wheaton. This society is composed of gentlemen and their wives. Its objects are as follows: First to unite fraternally all persons of sound bodily health, and good moral character who are socially acceptable, and between eighteen and sixty-five years of age. Second, to give all moral and material aid in its power to its members, and those dependent upon them. Third, to educate its members socially, morally and intellectually. Fourth, to establish a fund for the relief of sick and distressed members. Fifth, to establish a Benefit Fund, from which, on the satisfactory evidence of the death of a member of the Order, who has complied with all its lawful requirements, a sum not exceeding five thousand dollars shall be paid to the family, orphans, or dependents, as the member may direct.

The Lanterns.
To be placed on the switches on the railroad, arrived this week, the switches having been made ready for them two weeks ago.

District Court.
Cases before the District Court in Quincy last week were as follows: Charles H. Deshauners of Weymouth, whose case was continued from last week was fined $5 and cost for an assault on Jonathan Cullen.

James Williams of Boston, on complaint of Deputy Sheriff French, for being a vagabond at Quincy. Found guilty and sent to the House of Correction at Dedham for six months.

Peter Anderson of East Weymouth, for breaking and entering a shoe shop of Francis H. Stetson in Randolph. Ordered to recognize in $100, to appear before the Grand Jury on the first Monday of December; also, for an assault on Abel C. Stetson; ordered to give $3000 bond; being unable he was carried to jail.

Benjamin Stetson, of South Scituate was arraigned on complaint of George C. Lincoln for the larceny of a clock and one gallon of oil at Cohasset. He was sent to the House of Correction for six months.

Bartholomew Farrell of Weymouth, for being drunk. Fined $3 and costs; in default was committed.

Hiram Piper and Henry Piper of Milton, junk dealers, for the larceny of rope from the quarry of Jesse Buntin, valued at $20. Plead guilty and sent to the House of Correction, each for one year.

Joseph Loring of Quincy for being drunk. Fined $3 and costs.

A Black Cashmere for 70 cents per yard that can't be beat. Fresh lot of Bed Comforters and Blankets, good ones. New line Black Fringes at RAND'S.

Subscription.
A few weeks ago Dr. J. M. Goodwin, of Weymouth, lost his life by sickness, and a number of his friends recently united in raising a subscription for the purchase of another horse for his use, the result being that a generous amount was secured, and the Doctor now rejoices in the possession of a nice animal. He takes this occasion to return his grateful thanks for this manifestation of friendship, assuring all concerned that their gift is highly appreciated.

TOWN AND VICINITY.

Thanksgiving Services.

In accordance with the Governor's proclamation, several of the churches of Weymouth assembled at their respective houses of worship, last Thursday, where appropriate services were held.

The Congregational and Methodist churches of East Weymouth, held a union service in the latter church. Rev. Mr. Eldridge preached the sermon from Eccl. vii, 10: "Say not thou what is the cause that the former days were better than these." He spoke of the gratitude we should feel for the age in which we live, and contrasted the state of affairs at the present time with the past. In material comforts and domestic conveniences we are wonderfully favored. Here he alluded to the recent discoveries and investigations in science, the ease with which we travel and the comforts of home. To the question, is the moral character of professors as free as it once was? which some might ask, he would say that investigation showed that scandal and hypocrisy were as prevalent in the church of the former century, and even more so, than at the present time. Look how freely rum flowed. Ministers and deacons partook of it, and nothing, it was thought, could be accomplished without what we call the aid of the bottle. This age is ahead of former ages in the spirit of tolerance that has sprung up among Christians of different denominations. The speaker referred to the development of active Christian work in the church, in the last few years, and spoke of the advance of the mission spirit, and the cause of temperance. The piety of to-day is one of Christian activity rather than passive rectitude, and another development of the activity of this age is seen in the work of the Young Men's Christian Association. Thirty years ago the church was apologizing for the cause of slavery; now we can say that we possess a land where no tyrant shall ever look down upon a slave. He alluded to the increase in facilities for education, and the additional hope which we have of a still brighter day that is to come.

The Pilgrim Church assembled with the Old North Church, last Thursday, and listened to a discourse by Rev. F. B. Chapin, from Phil. ii, 4 and 7. "With thanksgiving let your request be made known unto God, and the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus."

At South Weymouth the two Congregational churches assembled in the Union Church and Rev. G. N. Marlen preached the sermon from the text, "Say not that the former days were better than these, for thou dost not inquire wisely concerning this."—Eccl. vii, 10. The life of a people consists mainly in home comforts and conveniences, the condition of health, industrial interests, and in social, civil and religious institutions. A comparison of the present and past shows that no man can wisely say that the "former days were better than these." Each age has its defects, and we should not cherish a fault-finding spirit that will cause us to forget the blessings which are at hand. Mr. Marlen gave many instances to show that this age incomparably far exceed any past, and the future must far exceed the present.

Rev. Mr. Titus, at the Universalist church, previous to his sermon, on reading the Proclamation spoke specially of the observance of the day. It may not be observed with all the strictness of past years, yet the spirit of the day is borne in mind by our citizens. The Thanksgiving reunion of the home exerts a healthful influence over the people. We can carry the spirit of Gov. Talbot's excellent proclamation into our homes, and the more this spirit of thankfulness pervades our lives, the better and purer will be our labors among men. The Reverend gentleman then read a poem written by one of the aged attendants of this church, Mr. Francis M. Adlington, who will on the 24th of December, reach his 90th birthday. The following is the hymn:

THANKSGIVING HYMN.
Our Father, God, our thanks to thee
For all the numerous comfort giv's;
The treasures of the land and sea,
And faith that bids us hope for Heav'n.

The hope that in bright realms above
With our earthly tasks o'er,
Our grateful souls may live to love
And worship there for ever more.

To mingle with a kindred host
Who round the throne adoring kneel,
And know that not a soul is lost
Of all who here Jehovah's love

O glorious thought, in regions fair
Forgotten all our earthly stains;
To dwell in peace and safety where
Our Father, God, forever reigns.

The sermon of the pastor was upon the history, duties and position of the Universalist.

In the evening, Rev. Mr. Titus gave a lecture upon the outlook of the working-man, and reasons for his thankfulness in the approaching Thanksgiving day; in which was portrayed the labors, condition, and the many hopes for the working-men of our land. Our nation, by its production, is beating the world, and because of this, the fruits, and grains of our fields, the mechanism of our shops, and the productions of our factories will be called for by foreign lands. The recent Centennial Exposition was of great value in bringing our goods and wares to the attention of business men of other nations. The exports of our land and the imports of gold and silver truly show that the times are growing better. The financial market is the pulse of the people. To-day we are exporting large quantities of far better writing paper, matches, engines, watches, &c., than we ever received from the nations who supplied us in part with these before. Business in these branches is entirely legitimate. Our wares, our grains, our manufactures, are the very best, hence the demand for them. I have no fears of the future of the working-man, providing he is prudent in his expenditures. He has many reasons to be thankful, in spite of the hard times.—Our schools are the best and are free to the poor; our government is the best, because each has a voice; our homes should be the best, because all influences for good are within our reach. Taking these our hearts can truly respond to the brave and encouraging proclamation of our Governor, and give heartfelt thanks to Him who watches over all our interests.

Rev. A. H. Hall preached a Thanksgiving sermon in the Union Church of Weymouth and Braintree, last Sunday forenoon at 11 o'clock. "If thy father at all miss me, then say, David earnestly asked that he might run to Bethlehem, his city; for there is a yearly sacrifice there for all his family."

A Thanksgiving sermon will be delivered in the Baptist church next Sunday.

THE LITTLE WANDERER'S HOME.

Mention has been made of the donations for Thanksgiving which this worthy institution has asked for. Evidence is already at hand showing that a good number of packages of food, garments, &c., have been given. Mr. Simeon W. Gutterman has in charge the packages given by the Baptist Sunday School; Mr. George S. Baker, those from the Universalist Sunday School, and those of the Union Parish were given through the kindness of Mr. Wm. K. Baker carried all the articles in and delivered at the Home, free of charge. The value of the many packages we know not, but presume considerable. We hope so, at least.

Gen'l heavy Cardigan Jackets at 57c. Gen'l plain Merino Shirts and Drawers, 32c. BOSTON BRANCH STORE.

Business Life in Weymouth.
There has not been a time for many months when business has appeared to be so lively at our wharves, as at the present period. The lumber dealers are selling more lumber, and have abundant orders, the highway below the depot being at times fairly blocked with teams engaged in hauling lumber, grain and coal. By the way Weymouth has the largest quantity of coal on hand which it has ever had before. There has hardly been a day within two months but what we have had a lumber or coal vessel at the wharves, unloading its cargo. In these evidences of business life our citizens may well rejoice.

A splendid Winter Corset made with extra heavy and long laces. Best value for $1.00 ever shown in Weymouth at RAND'S.

Troy Laundry, cheapest and best. Branch office, Weymouth Drug Store. Send Wednesdays.

Contested.
Mr. Geo. A. Cushing, Independent candidate for Representative from this district, has notified the Secretary of State and the Town Clerks of Weymouth and Quincy, that he will contest the seat of Mr. Louis A. Cook in the House, as he claims that there was a mistake of 63 votes in the Quincy count, which would have elected him. The alleged mistake he says was in the Adams ballot, which bore Mr. Cushing's name for Representative, and the claim is that there was no scratching of that ticket, while the 63 which would thus have been thrown for Mr. C. do not appear to have been recorded in his favor.

Don't fail to see the bargains we are offering in Shaker, Plaid and Spotted Flannels, at the Boston Branch Store.

Singing Society.
The Weymouth Singing Society gave their third rehearsal last Sunday evening at Clapp's Hall. An addition has been made to the orchestra, which now numbers sixteen instruments. It is earnestly desired that many new members be added to the society. The price of membership is only one dollar, admitting a gentleman with lady. The society now numbers one hundred members. Rehearsal next Sunday evening, commencing at 7 o'clock precisely.

Many of the advertising boards that have lately been placed in different parts of the town by E. Henshaw, of Boston, have been mutilated and some of them destroyed, and a reward will be paid for information concerning the same.

The Office Party.
Given by the social circle of the First Universalist society was not attended by a large mass of people, although the entertainment passed off well, (as well as the cake and coffee), and was enjoyed by all present. Mrs. Jarley's exhibition of wax work was the principal feature. A comparison of the present and past shows that no man can wisely say that the "former days were better than these." Each age has its defects, and we should not cherish a fault-finding spirit that will cause us to forget the blessings which are at hand. Mr. Marlen gave many instances to show that this age incomparably far exceed any past, and the future must far exceed the present.

Rev. Mr. Titus, at the Universalist church, previous to his sermon, on reading the Proclamation spoke specially of the observance of the day. It may not be observed with all the strictness of past years, yet the spirit of the day is borne in mind by our citizens. The Thanksgiving reunion of the home exerts a healthful influence over the people. We can carry the spirit of Gov. Talbot's excellent proclamation into our homes, and the more this spirit of thankfulness pervades our lives, the better and purer will be our labors among men. The Reverend gentleman then read a poem written by one of the aged attendants of this church, Mr. Francis M. Adlington, who will on the 24th of December, reach his 90th birthday. The following is the hymn:

THANKSGIVING HYMN.
Our Father, God, our thanks to thee
For all the numerous comfort giv's;
The treasures of the land and sea,
And faith that bids us hope for Heav'n.

The hope that in bright realms above
With our earthly tasks o'er,
Our grateful souls may live to love
And worship there for ever more.

To mingle with a kindred host
Who round the throne adoring kneel,
And know that not a soul is lost
Of all who here Jehovah's love

O glorious thought, in regions fair
Forgotten all our earthly stains;
To dwell in peace and safety where
Our Father, God, forever reigns.

The sermon of the pastor was upon the history, duties and position of the Universalist.

In the evening, Rev. Mr. Titus gave a lecture upon the outlook of the working-man, and reasons for his thankfulness in the approaching Thanksgiving day; in which was portrayed the labors, condition, and the many hopes for the working-men of our land. Our nation, by its production, is beating the world, and because of this, the fruits, and grains of our fields, the mechanism of our shops, and the productions of our factories will be called for by foreign lands. The recent Centennial Exposition was of great value in bringing our goods and wares to the attention of business men of other nations. The exports of our land and the imports of gold and silver truly show that the times are growing better. The financial market is the pulse of the people. To-day we are exporting large quantities of far better writing paper, matches, engines, watches, &c., than we ever received from the nations who supplied us in part with these before. Business in these branches is entirely legitimate. Our wares, our grains, our manufactures, are the very best, hence the demand for them. I have no fears of the future of the working-man, providing he is prudent in his expenditures. He has many reasons to be thankful, in spite of the hard times.—Our schools are the best and are free to the poor; our government is the best, because each has a voice; our homes should be the best, because all influences for good are within our reach. Taking these our hearts can truly respond to the brave and encouraging proclamation of our Governor, and give heartfelt thanks to Him who watches over all our interests.

Rev. A. H. Hall preached a Thanksgiving sermon in the Union Church of Weymouth and Braintree, last Sunday forenoon at 11 o'clock. "If thy father at all miss me, then say, David earnestly asked that he might run to Bethlehem, his city; for there is a yearly sacrifice there for all his family."

A Thanksgiving sermon will be delivered in the Baptist church next Sunday.

EAST WEYMOUTH.

Rev. Mr. Smith, of South Braintree, exchanged with Rev. E. W. Eldridge, pastor of the Cong'l church, last Sabbath.

The members of the Cong'l and Methodist choir, who are to give a concert in the lecture hall, next week after next, will meet in the Methodist vestry, to-morrow evening, for rehearsal.

Messrs. J. Rice & Son commenced operations on the addition to the store of Mr. John F. Lee, last Monday.

Mr. Anthony Miller, the famous sportsman, is expecting a fine bound next week.

The concert which was to take place next week, in the lecture hall, is deferred one week, and the lecture next week will be delivered by Rev. Mr. Hubbard, of Merrimack, on Friday evening instead of Wednesday, and is entitled "Unpaid for Respectability."

Mr. Waldo Turner is building an addition to the back of his shop for the accommodation of Timothy Burbank, the blacksmith.

Last Monday a little daughter of Mr. Thos. W. Raymond, fell from a chair and broke a bone in her shoulder.

Mr. Prince Joy, at Shaw's Corner, has been laying in a stock (7 for Thanksgiving) of what we call a "Turkey" which he has killed eight shunks on his premises, the last one being much larger than either of the others.

Correction.
In the report of the marriage of Mr. John A. Connel, last week, the name of the bride should have read Miss Kate Ballentine and that of the clergyman Rev. P. J. Ledy.

Recovering.
Miss Mary Sprague, daughter of J. Sinclair Sprague, who has been very sick for some time past, is now convalescent.

Sunday morning broke cold and dreary, with a driving rain, ominous of wet and winter; yet the extreme inclemency of the weather did not prevent a large concourse of people from attending the dedicatory services in the Church of the Immaculate Conception. Long before the time appointed for the services to commence every available seat in the large auditorium was filled, every religious denomination in the village being represented. The dedicatory services commenced precisely at 10 o'clock, and were performed by Archbishop John J. Williams, of Boston, assisted by Rev. James McClellan, Cambridge, and Rev. N. G. Baratta, of Weymouth, as deacon and sub-deacon respectively. A solemn high mass was observed. Rev. J. Q. McQuaid, of Abington, officiating as celebrant, with Miss B. Kearney, of Weymouth, as organist. The singing of high mass was rendered by the consolidated choir of the churches of the Sacred Heart, of Weymouth, the St. Francis Xavier, of South Weymouth, and the Immaculate Conception of East Weymouth. The solos were rendered by Mr. Thomas F. and Miss Nellie T. Nolan, who are connected with the St. Francis Xavier choir. Right Rev. Bishop Lynch, of Charleston, S. C., preached the sermon, taking for his text, Heb. 8, 1, and presenting the importance and interest of the dedication of Christian churches, which events were an acknowledgment of faith in God and in the revelation of His Word. He briefly traced the outlines of Catholic history, and in eloquent manner alluded to the progress of events, saying that "Science and philosophy have striven to build a high altar to the church of Christ, but their efforts are fruitless. Philosophy has changed, as has science, but the church of Christ and its doctrines remain the same. The character of the church is of divine origin; human power could never have elevated to that high standard to which it has attained."

The new edifice, a magnificent structure, built of wood, with a basement composed of old Weymouth granite, and standing firm on its foundation bids defiance to the "fury of the elements." It is surrounded by a neat and substantial iron fence, manufactured by Healey Bros., of New York, and set up and painted by Mr. Samuel Healey, of this village. The outside of the church is now being painted, the first coat having been put on, and after it has received another coat of paint all the work will have been completed, and the Church of the Immaculate Conception will stand as a model country church in point of architecture. The interior of the church is exquisitely finished and has a seating capacity of 1200. The altar is composed chiefly of marble, and was manufactured at a cost of $2000 by Hall & Moran, of Boston. The pews are black walnut, of gothic design and were manufactured by Turner & Co., of Brooklyn, N. Y. The chancel window is a superb piece of workmanship, and is emblematical of the church. It was designed and manufactured by Morgan, the renowned artist of New York, and is acknowledged to be one of his best efforts. The windows in the auditorium were stained by Samuel West, of Boston.

This church has been in process of erection for the past six years, and it has cost in the aggregate $37,000.

Lecture.
Rev. G. N. Marlen, of South Weymouth, delivered his lecture on the Cong'l Church, last Wednesday evening. The audience was not the largest that had assembled to listen to the fine series of lectures, of which this is the tenth. The speaker recalled the troubles between the Jews and Arabs, and said that he had seen the ruins of the temple of Haggar and Ishmael away into the desert by Abraham, which seems to have been the beginning of the ill feeling which has existed between the two nations. He spoke of the divisions of Arabia, the physical condition of the country, articles of produce, animals, and methods of agriculture, the palm tree, which supplies food, thatch for the houses, and many things for use and ornament. He dwelt at some length upon the caravan, by which the exchange of produce is carried on in Arabia, also the Great Desert. The 15,000,000 Arabs are divided into two classes—those who live in houses and villages, and the nomadic. The manners and customs of the latter class formed the basis of the discourse, they being the most interesting. They are the finest specimens of physical manhood that can be found in the world, and for keenness of sense surpass any people. He described the marriage customs, home life, schools, and the superstition and hospitality which are marked features among the Arabs. Their religion, morals and amusements were also referred to. Mr. W. F. Burrell officiated at the organ.

The Eureka H. & L. Co. held their annual Thanksgiving ball last Wednesday evening.

FOUND.
A YOUNG SETTER DOG, which the owner can have by proving pedigree and paying cash. Apply to JAMES C. WENDALL, 513 3/4 Street, Weymouth Landing.

FOR SALE.
ONE NEW SPRING CARRIAGE, but very little used. Will sell for $100.00. Apply to J. H. PRAY, 513 3/4 Street, Weymouth Landing.

OYSTERS.

Mr. David P. Lincoln will organize his singing class in the M. E. vestry, this evening. Every young person should be interested in this enterprise and join the class.

Mr. Benj. Shurtleff, who has for some time repaired the "soles of men," in his shop on Commercial St., is now engaged in the sole leather room of Mr. Austin Tirrell's boot and shoe manufactory, and his shop, for the present, is closed.

Officer Mitchell arrested Padock Higgins last evening, for drunkenness.

Mr. J. N. L. Bickeland family have returned from the Vineyard.

Mr. S. A. R. Pratt is building a house and barn on Grant St.

Mr. John A. Raymond has been appointed a Justice of the Peace.

In the District Court this week, Edwin F. Dee, Daniel Hogan, Jerome F. Donovan, on charges of assault, were fined—some $5 and some $10. Dorick White, on a similar complaint, and also for maintaining a liquor nuisance, was discharged.

The ball of the Amity Club, at Lincoln Hall, Thanksgiving night, was attended by a large number of ladies and gents. Music was furnished by Langford & White's full orchestra, and a hot supper was prepared by caterers Vaughan in his best style. The club realized $40 above expenses.

Mr. Frank Cowing, station agent at Weymouth, returned yesterday from a visit to Yarmouth, N. S., having been absent about three weeks.

Gents, get the best laundry work for the least money at Troy Laundry, Branch Office, Weymouth Drug Store.

Rev. L. W. Saltonstall, of Dorchester, will officiate at the Episcopal Church, next Sunday, at 10 and 2 1/2 o'clock.

A full line of Gents' Plymouth Dogskin and Fleece Lined Gloves, at the BOSTON BRANCH STORE.

SURPRISED.
Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Tinkham were most happily surprised last Saturday evening, it being the 20th anniversary of their marriage. The brothers and sisters presented them with a most elegant china set, besides various other presents. The evening was most socially spent, with a good mixture of Whitman's ice cream and cake. Charley seemed a little confused at first, but he came out all right.

Mr. Fred Lound, who graduated from the High School this year, is teaching in Ward 2. We are glad to see some of our graduates making themselves useful in town.

Tea is very useful and can hardly be dispensed with. But it seems as if it was wasted in spelling Depot.

The teachers and scholars are having a vacation this week.

The wedding reception of Mr. and Mrs. Joann Salisbury at their residence, last Tuesday evening, was one of the most elegant occasions of the season.

The marriage ceremony was performed at the house of the bride, in Hingham, in the early part of the evening. At the reception the house was crowded with people from this and neighboring towns. The guests were received at the door by colored ladies, and after being introduced to the bride and bridegroom were invited into the large dining hall, where the long tables were loaded with oysters cooked in every style, ice cream, pastry and fruits, together with a lavish supply of delicious coffee, under the direction of Mr. Cook, of Boston, assisted by a dozen excellent waiters, who were kept busy for two hours.

Some two feet in diameter, were placed in the centre of the table, with twirlings of snail-like trained in every conceivable manner. The presents were very numerous and costly.

Mr. and Mrs. Salisbury intend taking a wedding tour to Florida and California at an early period. The company departed at a seasonable hour, feeling that it had been an evening most happily spent.

LOVELL'S CORNER.
The Match.
One of the most interesting episodes in this vicinity was the 15-hour pedestrian tournament at the Town Hall last Saturday. The respective contestants, Wm. Townsend, J. F. Young and P. Slattery, with their trainers, were promptly on hand, and at 8 A. M. the word "go" was given by the Judge, W. T. Spillett.—Townsend at once went to the front and maintained his position until the judge's hammer announced that the time was up. The race throughout was well contested, Young and Slattery working hard for the second place, the latter, however, leaving the track early in the evening, seeing it was useless to continue.

The excellent walking and running of the contestants was freely commended on the graceful gait of Townsend making him the general favorite, and his indomitable pluck and endurance giving him an easy victory. He covered almost 77 miles, and Young made 75 miles.—Townsend was offered $50 to sell the race, but preferred a square thing. It is the opinion of many who have seen important contests of this kind, that Townsend with proper training would make a pedestrian second to none in the State. The entrance fees collected at the door amounted to $57.

Mr. J. F. Taylor has taken an agency from Messrs. Stone, nurserymen of Rochester, N. Y. Mr. T. ought to do well in the tree line, as he successfully treed a rooster about 20 years old, on his premises, one evening last summer. The rooster came down, but didn't crow.

FOUND.
A YOUNG SETTER DOG, which the owner can have by proving pedigree and paying cash. Apply to JAMES C. WENDALL, 513 3/4 Street, Weymouth Landing.

FOR SALE.
ONE NEW SPRING CARRIAGE, but very little used. Will sell for $100.00. Apply to J. H. PRAY, 513 3/4 Street, Weymouth Landing.

OYSTERS.

GOOD NOW!

Try the LARGE

Providence River

OYSTERS.

N. B. All our Oysters are

Fresh from the Shell,

and Warranted as good as the best, or no sale.

C. W. Stevens.

Orders may be left at the Grocery Store of F. M. DROWN, Weymouth Landing.

New Advertisements.

NOW

IS THE TIME TO BUY AN AMERICAN

WATCH

—AT THE—

LOWEST PRICE!!

LARGE STOCK

VOL
The
C. G.
EVERY THING
Terms
Orders for all attention, an
The FRAN
Attorney
WEY
HAY
Bundl
JOS
WE
C. S Stoo
U. N. NE
BOUGHT
New York
vanced on St
Basem
W. K.
GEAIN
CONSTAN
Minutal
Also, MIN BAR
FLOO
BLA
Corner of C
We HORSE
RIAGE
D
B. F
H
JACKSON Sq
W.
RESPE has est.
J. E. J
SHAW
where he is in BLACK SHOEIN
etc. A shari satisfaction a Il
LIVERY
S Washington
JOSE
C
LI BUND Flow
BRICK
Wood
Also, As COMPAN
Oppo
EAST
G Pain
Paints: Go
Shop in Go
We
For Fil BUS
J. A CO
F Sout
H YOUNG all cars of you HAVE show late
A.
PHOT
CHILD
D
W
Will say
15 U. S.
15 U. S.